U.S. Reassures Chiang Of No Change In Policy

Won't Give Any Ground On Quemoy

Will Continue To Demand Cease-Fire In Formosa Area

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The United States has reassured Nationalist China there is no change in its policy of refusing to give ground in the face of continued Communist attacks on Quemoy and of demanding a cease-fire.

U.S. Ambassador Everett F. Drumright relayed this information from Secretary of State Dulles to President Chiang Kai-shek Thursday night.

Chiang's reaction was not disclosed but the Foreign Ministry rejected again today Dulles' suggestion for reducing Nationalist military strength on the offshore islands if the Communists will stop shooting.

Thus the two governments held different policies on ending the Formosa Strait crisis, now in its 42nd day.

But there was increasing belief the artillery blockade was losing its effectiveness as sea convoys and air drops kept on unloading supplies. A massive increase in their size is expected soon with the help of U.S. equipment now being turned over to the Nationalists.

The supply situation is very much improved, said Rear Adm. Liu Hoh-tu, Defense Ministry spokesman.

And Vice Adm. Roland N. Smoot, head of the U.S. Taiwan (Formosa) Defense Command, said in an interview the Quemoys can now hold out indefinitely under present conditions.

Any enlargement of the offshore war would come from the Communists, not the Nationalists, Smoot said. The Nationalists recognize the importance of keeping the Communists tagged with the blame for aggression, he added.

Smoot said the Nationalists understood the world desire for a negotiated cease-fire and would accept one if it did not prejudice their sovereign rights. He did not define those rights.

Dulles' message seeking to reassure Chiang was sent after Chinese Nationalist officials expressed fears that American policy was shifting in a way that might prejudice Nationalist rights.

CIVILIAN CASUALTY. An aged and bare-footed man is supported by a hospital orderly and a ground crew man after arrival in Taipei, Formosa, with the first civilian casualties from Big Quemoy. Latest developments in Taipei are that Nationalist China's three largest newspapers attacked proposals for demilitarizing the offshore islands. GM Remains Shut Down; Pact Signed

Ordered To Stay On Strike To Back Up Locals' Demands

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors and the United Auto Workers reached agreement on a three-year master contract Thursday night, but GM's vast industrial empire remained shut down today by a strike of its 250,000 UAW members.

UAW President Walter P. Reutheir hailed the new national agreement as "good for the nation, good for the UAW and good for GM," but he cautioned that GM workers at 126 plants across the country were authorized to remain on strike to back up local demands.

A companywide walkout against GM preceded the new pact by 12 hours. Before that, there had been a rash of wildcat strikes. The old contract ran out four months ago and tensions had mounted in recent weeks under no-contract operations.

A major complaint at local levels has been so-called wage inequities in GM plants—different pay for similarly classified jobs. The national agreement establishes a fund into which the company will pay half a cent hourly for each worker to narrow differences.

Both Reuther and GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton expressed hope the local grievances would be settled quickly so GM could get into full production of 1959 cars and trucks.

Reuther told the GM locals to press for speedy settlement of differences and to return to work as soon as they are settled.

GM was the last of the automotive Big Three to agree with the UAW on a contract.

Ford settled Sept. 17 after a seven-hour strike. Chrysler settled Wednesday without a strike.

However, Chrysler and UAW negotiators meet again today in an effort to reach a contract for

Russia Cites U.S., Britain On Test Shots

Resumed A-Testing Because They Kept On, Report Declares

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government said today it has resumed testing of its nuclear weapons because the United States and Britain have kept on with their test shots.

A special announcement made through the official Tass news agency declared the blame falls on the two Western powers since they did not follow suit when the Soviets announced suspension of test blasts six months ago.

(The Soviets, who wound up a big series of experimental explosions before swearing off last spring, are known to have detonated four nuclear devices in a test area north of the Arctic Circle this week. The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission announced in Washington the detection of two detonations there Tuesday and two more Thursday.)

It accused the United States and Britain of using the Soviet suspension "to secure the greatest possible military advantage for their side, thus ignoring the will of the peoples."

"This is evidenced," it said, "by the fact that precisely after March 31—that is the moment the Soviet Union suspended nuclear tests and called upon other countries to follow suit—the governments of the United States and the United Kingdom undertook the biggest ever series of tests of atomic and hydrogen weapons.

"The United States alone has set off about 40 nuclear shots during this period.

"Considering this, the Soviet government cannot allow the security interests of the Soviet state to suffer because of such actions of the United States and the United Kingdom. . . .

"Tass is authorized to state that, although forced by the actions of the United States and Britain to resume its own nuclear tests, the Soviet Union will in the future continue its struggle for immediate and universal termination of such tests."

Talks are to begin among Soviet, British and American representatives at Geneva Oct. 31 to seek an agreement on suspending tests under adequate safeguards.

IBOP Board Will Consider Wage Request

The Executive Board of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters Thursday opened its annual fall meeting at Cleveland in which it said it will "give serious consideration" to petitions from local unions asking reopening of working agreements with employers to seek "improved wage standards and health and welfare benefits."

The meeting at the Statler Hotel is expected to require three days. The IBOP explained it was called to clear up unfinished business that has been pending since the international convention in Denver in July.

The IBOP's current two - year agreement with generalware and chinaware manufacturers took effect Oct. 1, 1957. In it, the workers won a 9-cent hourly wage increase, two paid holidays and a health and welfare plan supported by both management and employes. It allows reopening by either side after the first year, provided 60 - day notice is given the other party.

Referring to the possibility of asking reopening of the wage agreement with the two major branches of the trade, the IBOP said:

"Due to numerous petitions received at international headquarters for opening of generalware and chinaware wage contracts, the board will give serious consideration to the request of the trade membership for opening of the pacts in line with other labor organizations throughout the country for improving wage standards and health and welfare benefits."

The Executive Board is comprised of the 12 international officers, headed by E. L. Wheatley, president.

Truman Hits Move To Ban Union Shop

Says It's Insidious Attempt To Shackle Rights Of Labor

CLEVELAND (AP)—Harry S. Truman today attacked proposals to "ban the union shop" as an "insidious attempt to shackle the rights of labor" and urged defeat of such proposals in six states where they come before the voters this year.

He said the proposals result from provisions of the Taft-Hartley law, which he referred to as "a concealed time bomb ticking away under the house of labor."

One provision of the Taft-Hartley law is that the union shop would not be permitted in states where state statutes prohibit it, the former president said in a speech at the quadrennial convention of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Truman said the National Assn. of Manufacturers and big business interests "who were behind the Taft-Hartley law" knew that "if they tried to destroy the union shop in the bright glare of national publicity, then they would be exposed as enemies of the whole trade union movement.

"They thought they would have a better chance to accomplish their purpose in the capitols of the states, and in state elections and referenda, where they might have less opposition, and less publicity."

There is lively interest in the issue in Ohio, where voters will ballot yes or no Nov. 4 on the issue, which says:

"No employer or labor organization shall deny or abridge the right to work by requiring membership or non-membership in, or payment or non-payment of money to, a labor organization as a condition of employment or continued employment in this state."

Said Truman:

"Let me make this clear: If the Republicans win this election, they will assume they have a blank check to continue their anti-labor

Finlay Waited Saturday For City Tax Case

Larry Finlay, 709 Sophia St., was served with a summons Thursday ordering him to appear in Municipal Court Saturday at 9 a.m. on a charge of failing to file a declaration of estimated 1958 income with the city income tax office before the deadline July 15.

The charge against Finlay, one of three who allegedly failed to meet the deadline for the declaration, was signed shortly before noon yesterday by Frank Blakeley, supervisor of the tax office. Another alleged delinquent filed a declaration yesterday morning and prosecution of the third was held up after he telephoned a promise to comply today.

Instead of being served with a warrant, which requires the defendants' arrest, Finlay was handed a summons simply directing him to appear at the time set by the court. Finlay, a potter, also operates a neighborhood grocery at 611 Minerva St.

Advance estimates of income are required under the ordinance from persons whose income is not subject to withholding at the source. The charge against Finlay is the first criminal action the city has filed since the ordinance took effect May 1.

It reads: "Lawrence Finlay, being a 'taxpayer' as defined by Ordinance No. 19, 1958, who anticipates income subject to the city income tax and not subject to Section 5 of said ordinance, did fail, neglect or refuse to file a declaration of estimated tax for the taxable year 1958 or or before July 15, 1958, as required by Section 6 of said ordinance and in violation of Section 11 of Ordinance No. 19, 1958, of said city of East Liverpool."

Sewage Conference Told Industrial Filth To Be Attacked Next

By June 1959, when sewage disposal plants in Pittsburgh and Cincinnati are scheduled to go into operation, 92 per cent of the domestic waste emptied into the Ohio River will be processed first in treatment plants, the assistant director of the Ohio River Sanitation Commission declared in an address in East Liverpool Thursday night.

Robert K. Horton of Cincinnati spoke to 63 members of the Eastern Ohio Sewage and Industrial Wastes Treatment Conference at a dinner meeting in the Travelers Hotel.

But the near end of river pollution from domestic sources does not mean the commission's job is being completed, Horton said. He said it will concentrate next on treatment of industrial wastes. Only a very low percentage of industrial waste is treated now before it is dumped into the stream, he explained.

Deck Officer Walkout Ties Up 40 Liners

NEW YORK (AP) — The strike of union deck officers against 20 American steamship firms entered its third day today, with more than 40 passenger liners and freighters tied up in ports from Boston to New Orleans.

Federal mediators had no luck in talks Thursday with representatives of the striking, 1,300-member Masters, Mates and Pilots Union and the employer group, the American Merchant Marine Institute.

The companies affected operate about 310 vessels. All the ships face a tieup when they come into East and Gulf Coast ports. Tankers and foreign flag ships are not affected. Neither are the ships of several American companies which already signed contracts with the union.

The United States Line laid off 1,734 crewmen of its 53,000-ton liner United States and the smaller America.

A 21-year-old motorcyclist and a motorist, 48, were injured in separate traffic mishaps in the Klondyke area Thursday afternoon.

Clifford Malone, 924 Commerce St., Wellsville, was treated at City Hospital for injuries of the back and shoulder after his halted auto was hit from the rear by another at 3:16 p. m. on Elizabeth St.

As an aftermath of the crash, Wilbur E. Hazelet, 23, of 1825 Ohio Ave., driver of the other auto, was cited on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance. He is scheduled for a Municipal Court hearing Saturday morning.

Malone told police he halted his 1956 sedan in a lane of traffic and it was hit from the rear by Hazelet's. Hazelet said he looked to his left and did not see the halted car in time to avoid a crash.

Leroy Black, 2314 Harvey Ave., was treated at the hospital at 2:25 p. m. for lacerations of the left knee and abrasions of both thighs and the right lower leg suffered in the motorcycle upset.

Police had no report of the mishap. Black's family said his motorcycle went out of control on Pennsylvania Ave. Ext. when the brakes failed.

Lady Police Chief Hired To Aid Mayor Battle Bingo

AURORA, Ill. (AP) — Irate but ignored in his bingo war with Aurora police, Mayor Paul Egan has uncorked a real eyestopper in his bid for obedience and headlines—a lady police chief.

He announced that Lura Patricia (Patti) Counts, a red-haired night club press agent, is the new chief of police.

The 28-year-old green-eyed lass from Chicago has never dealt with the criminal element, but she says she's studied sociology. And she looked very well in a cheesecake pose for photographers.

"Press agentry," cried the opposition in this northern Illinois town of 55,000.

"It's just too ridiculous to comment upon," declared Donald Curran, whom Egan fired as police chief for not cracking down on bingo. Only he didn't go. And the City Council said he didn't have to.

Neither did the Police Department go when Egan suspended the entire 68-man force for listening to Curran.

But as far as the fiery little mayor is concerned Miss Counts is the chief.

And said she: "I will fight those who oppose my appointment."

Seniors Strike High School In Dispute Over Pictures

They want the pictures printed in their annual yearbook. The faculty adviser says no. They also want to vote on whom the yearbook should be dedicated to. That's against school policy. The faculty adviser decides.

The seniors petitioned Principal Edward Munley after 65 of the 72 seniors refused to attend afternoon classes.

The petition listed other demands—a new class adviser, a new yearbook adviser, an activity night once a week in the school gym, a little less harassment from the School Board.

It quoted a trustee as calling the seniors a "bunch of spoiled brats" and threatening to cancel the class play and the annual trip to Washington.

The seniors told Munley they won't return to school until all the demands are met. But the yearbook pictures, Munley said, started the unrest.

The pictures show students gathered at Lenn's Restaurant, and the faculty adviser, Miss Edith Oakey, decided they don't belong in the yearbook. The restaurant, she said, isn't connected with school activities.

He announced that Lura Patricia (Patti) Counts, a red-haired night club press agent, is the new chief of police.

The 28-year-old green-eyed lass from Chicago has never dealt with the criminal element, but she says she's studied sociology. And she looked very well in a cheesecake pose for photographers.

"Press agentry," cried the opposition in this northern Illinois town of 55,000.

"It's just too ridiculous to comment upon," declared Donald Curran, whom Egan fired as police chief for not cracking down on bingo. Only he didn't go. And the City Council said he didn't have to.

Neither did the Police Department go when Egan suspended the entire 68-man force for listening to Curran.

But as far as the fiery little mayor is concerned Miss Counts is the chief.

"Her success at Aurora will accrue to the benefit of the entire world," he proclaimed.

And said she: "I will fight those who oppose my appointment."

They want the pictures printed in their annual yearbook. The faculty adviser says no. They also want to vote on whom the yearbook should be dedicated to. That's against school policy. The faculty adviser decides.

The seniors petitioned Principal Edward Munley after 65 of the 72 seniors refused to attend afternoon classes.

The petition listed other demands—a new class adviser, a new yearbook adviser, an activity night once a week in the school gym, a little less harassment from the School Board.

It quoted a trustee as calling the seniors a "bunch of spoiled brats" and threatening to cancel the class play and the annual trip to Washington.

The seniors told Munley they won't return to school until all the demands are met. But the yearbook pictures, Munley said, started the unrest.

The pictures show students gathered at Lenn's Restaurant, and the faculty adviser, Miss Edith Oakey, decided they don't belong in the yearbook. The restaurant, she said, isn't connected with school activities.

Local Issues Keep Pickets

Most Of Ohio GM Workers Out Despite Pact Accord

By The Associated Press

Most of Ohio's 55,233 General Motors workers remained off the job today despite agreement in Detroit Thursday night on a new contract between GM and the United Auto Workers Union.

Local issues were keeping the picket lines up at most of the state's 22 General Motors plants. The union struck GM across the nation, idling a quarter of a million workers, when a 10 a.m. Thursday strike deadline passed without a settlement. The negotiators, however, reached agreement on a new pact 12 hours later.

But in Ohio, the strike was still in effect. At the Ternstedt plant at Columbus which employs 4,000 workers. A union spokesman said the company and union had reached agreement on almost all major local issues "but there is still some odds and ends to clean up." Another bargaining session was scheduled for this morning.

Workers also remained off the job at three Cincinnati area plants. Edward D. Hellkamp, union negotiator for the Cincinnati Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants, said, "The men won't go back until we get some relief on local problems." Adrian Jones, president of UAW Local 233 at the Hamilton Fisher Body plant took the same position.

Toledo UAW officials also expressed doubt if the new pact would see the approximately 1,250 workers at the GM transmission plant there back on the job until local grievances are settled.

At Dayton, UAW officials said they hoped to have local issues settled in time to have the workers back on the job by Monday. Plants involved there are the Moraine Products Division with 4,000 workers and Aero Products Division with 1,000 workers.

Cleveland area plants which include two Fisher Body plants, a Chevrolet works, a diesel plant, Cadillac-Cleveland Ordinance, and Brown-Lipe-Chapin at Elyria also will remain out.

Also still on strike are 21,900 members of the International Union of Electrical Workers who struck General Motors plants at Dayton and Warren at the same time the UAW walked out. They include two Dayton Frigidaire plants and two Delco plants and the Packard Electric plant at Warren. About 17,000 IUE workers are employed in the Dayton plants. The Warren plant employs 4,900.

The IUE has been working without a contract since May 29. A union spokesman said Thursday night the company and union have made substantial progress and another bargaining session was scheduled for today.

The UAW-manned plants closed by the strike, with the workers involved, were:

Moraine Products at Dayton, 4,000; Aero Products at Dayton, 1,000; Ternstedt at Columbus, 4,000; Fisher Body at Hamilton, 2,740; Chevrolet Transmission at Toledo, 1,250; Foundry at Defiance, 1,250; New Departure at Sandusky, 1,600; Fisher Body at Mansfield, 1,800; Brown-Lipe-Chapin at Elyria, 600; Fisher Body (2) at Cleveland, 4,800; Chevrolet at Cleveland, 5,700; Diesel plant at Cleveland, 375; Cadillac-Cleveland Ordnance at Cleveland, 590; and Euclid Division, Clinton Road plant, Cleveland, 528. Chevrolet at Norwood, 1,150; Fisher Body at Cincinnati, 1600.

At Crucible, he started as a metallurgical sales engineer, became general supervisor of the Metallurgical Department of the company's Sanderson - Halcomb Works in 1948, and 4 years later was appointed supervisor of stainless sales at Crucible's Cleveland sales branch. In 1955 he was named supervisor of stainless, bar, wire and billet sales and in 1956 he became supervisor of stainless flat rolled product sales, a position he held until his present appointment.

A native of Columbus, Arnold is a graduate of Ohio State University where he received a bachelor of metallurgical engineering degree.

In 1945 he joined Eastern Stainless Steel Corp. as manager of product control, remaining there until he came to Crucible in 1948. He served as assistant to the manager of orders in the company's offices in Pittsburgh until 1952 when transferred to the Midland Works and assigned as general supervisor of order and scheduling for the hot and cold strip mills, a position he held until his present appointment.

Russians Are Proving Something

Forget for a few minutes that Russians are living under socialism and Americans under capitalism.

The truth is, there's a mixture of capitalism and socialism in both countries. But more important than quibbles about ideology is something Americans have been learning about since Sputnik I zoomed into outer space on Oct. 4, 1957.

Russians have tapped a tremendous force inside themselves.

They have been trying to prove something to the world — that they are better than the world thought they were when Nazi Germany tried to push them over 20 years ago.

That plan was spoiled by the savage resistance of Russians defending their homeland. Whether the Communist politicians whose blunders continued to be compounded during World War II were more hindrance than help to the homeland defense is a moot question.

In either case, Russia emerged from World War II with a powerful incentive to keep on proving to the world that it had quite being a pushover. It had tapped a source of incentive that it never had tapped before. Incentive has propelled it at an amazing rate ever since.

THIS IS THE first anniversary of Sputnik I, a symbolic milestone in Russia's emergence as a major contender in worldwide competition for prestige.

It is a proper time to sum up some of the questions Americans have asked about the Soviet Union since they began to look into the Russian incentive system as applied to education, industrial production and military potential.

There can be no doubt any more that the Russian state is on the move and that the rate of its progress is a challenge to the incentive system of its competitors.

Whether Russian progress is because of or in spite of the political structure of the Soviet Union is an open question. But there is no question about the plain evidence that Russia is making headway at a rate which impresses every visitor who looks at its progress with a trained eye.

Its determination to prove it can make up the ground it lost to industrialism in the 19th century and the first third of the 20th century is paying off in many fields.

Can the United States match Russian desire to upgrade ability to produce?

Is there anything wrong with the incentive of the American people that cannot be overcome, now that it is plain the United States has a formidable rival coming up from behind to give it a run for the money?

Have Americans been taking their productivity for granted — milking it like a cow, while neglecting to insure its future?

In short, has the American incentive system been going flabby while the Russian incentive system has been putting on muscles, the way productivity once put on muscles in the United States when Americans were hell-bent on proving how good they were, instead of resting on their laurels and telling one another no one on earth could be any better?

It Hasn't Been Easy

The 45th anniversary of the federal income tax this week will cause no parades on Main St., though it would be a good idea for all the federal bureaucrats in Washington to march down Pennsylvania Ave. in gratitude.

The federal income tax made big government possible. It raised the money for World War I and World War II. It gave Uncle Sam the nickname of Uncle Sugar.

It subsidized manufacturers of accounting machinery and the careers of tax specialists and lawyers who tangle and untangle tax matters. It gave spenders a free rein and put a curb-bit on savers. It unbalanced the historic relationship between local and federal government, by giving the latter a blank check and making the former beg for leftover pennies.

It put a premium on agility in conducting personal and collective affairs with an eye to evading ever-heavier income taxes, legally if possible. It changed the nature of business by emphasizing the desirability of tax-deductible expenditures. It gave rise to the gloomy credo that the only way to cheat Caesar successfully was to cheat him on such a grand scale that he could not afford to put the cheater in jail.

But the new tax also challenged the honesty of homus Americanus. It has not been easy to stay honest in the face of so much evidence that tax evasion is a profitable and pleasant way of life, but the overwhelming majority of U.S. citizens have stayed honest. If any parades are staged, the main figure on the float should be Honest John Taxpayer with his pockets turned inside out.

Side Road Leading From Quemoy

Christian A. Herter, under secretary of state, beat both Secretary of States Dulles and President Eisenhower to the discovery of a side road out of the Quemoy impasse.

On Sept. 29, in a speech to the 80th annual conference of the National Guard Association of the United States, he foreshadowed the later hints by the President and secretary of state that the United States did not want to have a showdown over Quemoy, itself, but would try to reach a cease-fire agreement with Red China.

He said the offshore island, principally Quemoy, were not defensible. He made it plain that the United States was committed to the defense of Formosa only; that it excluded Quemoy from this commitment.

The problem, he explained, was the "almost pathological" devotion of the Nationalist Chinese to Quemoy. They have committed more than 100,000 troops to the defense of a position that the United States does not consider to be defensible.

Chiang Kai-shek, president of Nationalist China, reacted quickly to the hint that his strategy was being questioned by Washington. In his first news conference in three years he accused the United States of being blinded by Communist propaganda to the importance of Quemoy and Matsu. He insisted that the islands are the key to defense of the Western Pacific and Asia.

A breach has been opened between Washington and Taipei on an issue of strategy. There seems to be significance in the fact it was opened first by Under Secretary Herter, who may have been hoisting a trial balloon to look for that side road leading out of an impasse that threatened to tie up the United States in an indefensible military position in the Far East and a strongly questioned foreign policy position at home.

Working Together

An old - fashioned discussion of civic matters was undertaken by members of the Chester Kiwanis Club this week underscoring an increased interest in community affairs throughout the district.

More and more in the past few years area communities not only have devoted talk to their problems, they have started to do something about them.

Chester's street improvement program and development of the City Park have been evidences of progress in that city. Reorganization of East Liverpool's police force and introduction of a sound city financing program have been among improvements here.

Other communities have either launched programs or have formed planning groups to study them.

This new interest in municipal affairs stems from a willingness of many people to "do something" to improve things. Discussion of community matters with intelligence and reason is a healthy symptom of people working together.

The Once Over

Big money quiz show confessions are having curious results. There are many fans so dejected they may never trust another isolation booth. A fellow asked us "Gotta match?" yesterday and we inquired, "Is this on the level?"

We asked the wife if she knew where our winter overshoes were and her reply was so prompt we couldn't help wondering if it was a "fix."

"I want to ask you something," a friend at a cocktail party began, and we promptly snapped, "Nothing doing until I have time to study all the angles."

AS A FELLOW who trusted isolation booths for years we now find that to the simple commercial, "Do you suffer from acidosis, indigestion and fatigue?" our very natural answer is, "Brief me on the right answer or no dice."

During world series, "O, say can you see by the dawn's early light?" seemed extra pleasant, since it was one question we could answer with no feeling it would ever bring us before a grand jury.

THE EXPOSURE of questions "put up to take out" is very disturbing to folks who had faith in sealed envelopes, earphones and pretty blondes as escorts to and from the hot box.

Fans used to look at their TV sets and see Lady Luck, and the Fairy Godmother. Now they see district attorneys, Pinkertons and grand jurors. Show biz is show biz.

A quiz show can benefit from timing, directing and personalities. But it shocks fans to think that such programs may have scripts, choreography, typecasting and surefire sequences.

There is a fear it may be necessary for some programs to announce, "This quiz program is coming to you under supervision of the FBI. All questions and answers have been certified by Edgar Hoover." (Mortimer Topblower says he has never trusted any TV quiz winners. "If there were that many smart people in the U.S. this country would not have so many unsolved problems," he declares.)

RACE TRACKS are putting in slot-machine mutuels. You drop in your money and out comes your ticket. In fairness to bettors the machine should also give a free hot dog, correct weight, tell fortunes, mark programs and provide aspirin tablets. Mechanization is showing speed in every field of racing and the time will come when a loser can drop a coin into a slot and have the jockey booed by automation.

It seems to us that the two greatest losers in the world are the British yacht challenger and the DA on the Perry Mason show. Why shouldn't they meet in a sort of world series?

Where You End Up

Hoffa Ouster Could Return Beck

By Victor Riesel

I have just spoken to Dave Beck —the former, certainly not the present, but perhaps the future president of the Teamsters Brotherhood. I called Mr. Beck after the angry Teamster monitors asked the federal court to remove Jim Hoffa, who must have apprenticed with Houdini.

Victor Riesel

If the courts remove Hoffa, they must declare the last Teamster convention illegal. If they do, then little Gentleman Jim holds office illegally under an illegal constitution which was adopted at that illegal convention.

This might reinstate the old constitution and officers. And it is the considered opinion of several prominent Washington attorneys that a powerful argument can be made for Dave Beck's return to office.

DAVE BECK, they say, was the last legally elected Teamster president—at the Los Angeles Convention in 1952.

Under Article 6, Sec. 2a, the old constitution says that the president has the "authority to interpret the constitution and laws of the International Union and to decide on all questions of law thereunder."

I asked Beck about this. He agreed that the interpretation was correct. Under the old document the president could rule that the old officers were still in power.

Beck, softer spoken now, blended wistfulness with an un-dragon-like reluctance. He would not comment further on the throbbing brotherhood he led once in quieter times.

Beck did say that he was doing well in the real estate field. Only once did he machine-gun it out like the old Beck. Not once, he asserted, in all the past months and investigations had his name been linked "with gangsterism." And there was not "one iota of evidence" that he had ever run with the mobs, he insisted.

FROM OTHER sources there came word that Beck would like to step back into the presidency — temporarily. He would want to put the Teamsters back on the road and then return to some executive suite as a business man, watching the world go by.

Word of this O'Henry twist to the Beck saga is flaring like fire through a strike-bound cleaning and dyeing store. The thousands of local Teamster officials are between Scylla and Charybdis—and I'm not at liberty now to tell you what locals they are in.

If the federal court removes Jim Hoffa—and it is the belief of some that this may be imminent—the Teamsters will be run either by a court appointed "receiver" or Dave Beck.

Talk to the boys and you'll find they would prefer Beck. With Hoffa out, Beck might be able to get them back into the AFL-CIO, they feel.

Furthermore, even some of Hoffa's shield - carriers across the country aren't taking that possibility as a personal insult.

TELL YOU WHY. All the other Teamster presidents — meaning Dan Tobin and Dave Beck—had let the world's biggest union run like a series of baronies. Today Hoffa and his aides, with Executive Vice President Harold Gibbons as prime minister, are whipping the union into a centralized government.

The Teamsters across the land will rally to Hoffa while he's under the klieg lights. But they want him to let them alone in their own territories. However, Hoffa's plans call for tough central authority over all locals and trades divisions.

Not only that. Hoffa plans to tie the Teamsters to Harry Bridges' left-wing Pacific Coast Longshoreman's Union, the ousted New York shoremen and the National Maritime union in a coalition which is bound to bring federal restraining laws — and keep the Teamos in a hurricane of publicity for years.

The Spotlight May Shift

WASHINGTON

It will be a remarkable thing if the Communists — with all the initiative in their hands — permit any rest for U.S. policy in the Far East.

But the possibility by no means can be ruled out. Already there are indications Moscow anticipates a gradual easing of the Far East crisis.

The Soviets seem to be preparing for that, getting ready to swing the spotlight slowly back again to the Middle East.

The Communists do not have control over the rise and fall of crises in the Arab East. Their mode of operation there is to take fullest advantage of crises which do arise.

The Communists do have control over the Formosa crisis. When they want to start it going, they have only to order the shooting to begin. When they want it eased, they have only to ease off the shooting.

By pouring on pressure now, the Red Chinese might logically hope to wrest at least the offshore islands from the Nationalists. The United States clearly does not want to go to war over the islands. But there are a number of elements in the crisis which can spell danger to the Communists themselves.

Not the least of these elements is the possibility that the situation can damage relations between Moscow and Red China.

In an aside at his Wednesday news conference, President Eisenhower wondered why, if the Nationalist-Communist strife was really civil war, Soviet boss Khrushchev should say the Soviet Union might participate in that war.

However, Khrushchev has seemed rather anxious to avoid giving the impression the Soviets would join Red China in a war on the Nationalist Formosa regime. He said an attack by another power on Red China would be considered an attack on the U.S.S.R. The Peiping-Moscow treaty requires that.

Moscow probably would be unwilling to underwrite a real risk of war between Red China and the United States. The Soviets, however, still are in a position to persuade the Red Chinese to ease the crisis. Without Soviet help, Red China would find a long-sustained shelling of the offshore islands (now in its second month) an expensive proposition.

The Middle East offers a more fertile field for Communist endeavors. There the Soviets are not directly involved. They can keep their own situation relatively secure. And the Middle East does not raise the problem of aggravations between the two big Communist allies.

American and British troop withdrawals from Lebanon and Jordan may be a signal for the Soviets to concentrate the lion's share of their attention on the Arabs once again, for good reasons.

When Britain leaves Jordan, there's a good chance of a new Holy Land explosion. When the Americans leave Lebanon, a government which for all practical purposes is a revolutionary regime, will be in control.

There are evidences of a tug-of-war for power inside Iraq's revolutionary regime. The oil of Kuwait is of enormous economic importance to Britain, and the British will fight hard if Arab nationalist pressures threaten their presence in the little Persian Gulf sheikdom.

Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko apparently caught the significance of a single little word in the announcement of Britain's withdrawl plans. She would, said Britain, "begin" the withdrawal Oct. 20. In a U.N. speech, Gromyko called it stalling.

It's likely to be a slow and reluctant withdrawal, far too slow to suit the Soviets. Moscow hopes to apply the heat in the Middle East. The new explosion there, which by present indications could come some time around the turn of the year, cannot arrive too soon for Moscow.

Abuse Of Power

By David Lawrence

Congress May Take Action Against Court

The present Supreme Court, by its action this week, may have made inevitable the passage by Congress eventually of some type of legislation limiting the powers of the high court.

David Lawrence

The Constitution itself gives Congress the right to make limitations on the Supreme Court's authority over certain kinds of cases. The fight will be a long one, and virtually the entire American Bar will in the end become participants in the debate.

For, irrespective of the merits of the segregation-integration controversy itself, lawyers everywhere will be concerned, because overnight the Supreme Court has demolished some important pillars in the existing system of judicial procedure.

The Supreme Court not only has asserted the right at any time to reverse "settled law" but claims the right to say years afterwards that it rendered a decision containing language which is not to be found in the text of the first opinion.

Thus, nowhere in the May 17, 1954, decision of the Supreme Court of the United States can any language be found that says that the court on that day and in that opinion ruled that segregation is unconstitutional "where there is state participation through any arrangement, management, funds or property."

YET THE COURT claims this was what it said in 1954. Sen. McClellan of Arkansas makes this comment:

"That was not their holding in their May 17, 1954, decision in the case of Brown vs. The Board of Education, 347 U.S. 483, nor was it implied, and no one could so infer."

This departure from established practice means that the Supreme Court has taken unto itself the right not merely to interpret its previous decisions but to amend them at any time by adding language that was not in the original. Congress will doubtless institute an inquiry of its own into this strange development.

The court, of course, has a perfect right to say now what it thinks the 1954 decision meant or could mean. But can the court put new words into the text of four years ago and claim that the language was actually there in the first place?

What legal reasoning, moreover, prompted the Supreme Court to denounce "evasive schemes for segregation" and decide a case in that category—now pending in a lower court—even before this case is argued before the justices of the high court itself?

THE SUPREME COURT now has issued through that device a blanket warning that "state support of segregated schools through any arrangement, management, funds, or property cannot be squared with the 14th Amendment's command that no state shall deny to any person within its jurisdiction equal protection of the laws."

This is in the nature of an advisory opinion about future cases—something that the Supreme Court of the United States has never rendered since the Dred Scott case a hundred years ago.

At that time the court first decided the only question at issue—that the lower court had no jurisdiction over the case itself—and then proceeded to rule on broad constitutional matters related to slavery as a whole. It was a deviation from established practice that aroused nationwide resentment among lawyers.

To condone this week's repetition of the precedent is to invite judicial chaos. For at any moment the Department of Justice now can get an injunction from a lower court closing any private school—religious or non-denominational—where there is segregation and claim Supreme Court backing for the action. It can be asserted that segregation in any institution being given "state support" has been banned as unconstitutional.

CERTAINLY real estate tax exemptions for private-school buildings, the exemption from taxation of the income received by such private schools, and government payment of bus transportation for pupils attending parochial schools are each a means of "state support." Can any private school hereafter be segregated and stay within "the law of the land"?

The Constitution itself says that, with the exception of cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and counsuls, and cases in which a state itself is a party, "the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make."

In the case ruled upon by the Supreme Court last Monday, the State of Arkansas itself was not a party to the suit. The way is, therefore, open for Congress to issue new "regulations" to curb the Supreme Court's abuse of judicial power.

Forgotten Candidates

By Raymond Moley

I assume that whoever reads this piece knows the names or, as in one state the name, of his representatives in the Legislature. But I suggest that the reader ask the first friend the question and ponder a bit about the answer. It will probably be "No."

These forgotten people and the candidates who are running against them are most important this year and in 1960. For after the census of 1960 there will be a very considerable overhauling of the apportionment among the states of members of the U.S. House of Representatives.

In almost every case where there is a change in the number, it will be necessary to re-draw the boundaries of the congressional districts. And as every American knows, some very queer tricks can be done by gerrymandering.

The Census Bureau estimates that the following states will gain House members: California 7, Florida 3, Michigan 2, Texas 2, Alaska 1, Arizona 1, Indiana 1, Maryland 1, Ohio 1, Oregon 1.

THE SEATS thus gained will be taken from the following states: New York 3, Pennsylvania 3, Arkansas 2, Massachusetts 2, Alabama 1, Georgia 1, Illinois 1, Iowa 1, Kansas 1, Maine 1, Minnesota 1, Mississippi 1, North Carolina 1, West Virginia 1.

Since the control of the various legislatures involved will have such a great bearing on the political and ideological character of Congress, wise people are giving more attention than ever to the campaign and elections of members of the legislature.

Among those worldly-wise who are looking to that matter of political advantage are the leaders of the politically dedicated labor unions. For they are determined to do everything they can to have a House of Representatives which will pass no legislation that they oppose.

They have almost that sort of U.S. Senate now, judging by the votes in the recently adjourned Congress. It is the House which concerns them most, the House that blocked their Kennedy-Ives Bill.

And so in addition to giving generously of time and manpower to candidates for the U.S. Senate and House whom they favor, they are striving in every state to assure the election of their favorites for seats in the Legislatures.

THOSE MEMBERS are elected for the most part in districts.

That means working at the local level, providing propaganda, acquainting voters with the candidates, planning to put thousands of workers into registration efforts and at election to mobilize thousands of automobiles in places all over the nation to get their vote to the polls.

No such effort is being made by the regulars in the old parties. They have neither the workers, the money nor the cars to commandeer.

Consider, if you are of a conservative turn of mind, the states in which the gains and losses enumerated above appear. By a simple process of gerrymandering, legislatures in the states which will lose House members can oust conservatives and replace them with "liberals."

In states which gain members, it will be possible to make net gains for the cause. In states like Mississippi, Kansas and Iowa the loss is almost certain to be the loss of a conservative. Maybe in Maine also. And possibly in Massachusetts, North Carolina, and Minnesota.

In New York the legislature is likely to be Republican and conservative as in the past. But with big gains in California (the legislature is about evenly divided now after steady conservative losses for several years) and in Michigan, Oregon and possibly Florida, enough House seats may be turned to assure a liberal-labor balance in the House for years.

This is something every citizen should ponder as election nears.

According to the Navy's "Hurricane Hunters," hurricanes are tropical cyclones occurring in the Atlantic, Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico. By common agreement they are called "tropical storms" until the maximum wind speed exceeds 75 miles per hour, after which they are called hurricanes.

I have just spoken to Dave Beck —the former, certainly not the present, but perhaps the future president of the Teamsters Brotherhood. I called Mr. Beck after the angry Teamster monitors asked the federal court to remove Jim Hoffa, who must have apprenticed with Houdini.

Victor Riesel

If the courts remove Hoffa, they must declare the last Teamster convention illegal. If they do, then little Gentleman Jim holds office illegally under an illegal constitution which was adopted at that illegal convention.

This might reinstate the old constitution and officers. And it is the considered opinion of several prominent Washington attorneys that a powerful argument can be made for Dave Beck's return to office.

DAVE BECK, they say, was the last legally elected Teamster president—at the Los Angeles Convention in 1952.

Under Article 6, Sec. 2a, the old constitution says that the president has the "authority to interpret the constitution and laws of the International Union and to decide on all questions of law thereunder."

I asked Beck about this. He agreed that the interpretation was correct. Under the old document the president could rule that the old officers were still in power.

Beck, softer spoken now, blended wistfulness with an un-dragon-like reluctance. He would not comment further on the throbbing brotherhood he led once in quieter times.

Beck did say that he was doing well in the real estate field. Only once did he machine-gun it out like the old Beck. Not once, he asserted, in all the past months and investigations had his name been linked "with gangsterism." And there was not "one iota of evidence" that he had ever run with the mobs, he insisted.

FROM OTHER sources there came word that Beck would like to step back into the presidency — temporarily. He would want to put the Teamsters back on the road and then return to some executive suite as a business man, watching the world go by.

Word of this O'Henry twist to the Beck saga is flaring like fire through a strike-bound cleaning and dyeing store. The thousands of local Teamster officials are between Scylla and Charybdis—and I'm not at liberty now to tell you what locals they are in.

If the federal court removes Jim Hoffa—and it is the belief of some that this may be imminent—the Teamsters will be run either by a court appointed "receiver" or Dave Beck.

Talk to the boys and you'll find they would prefer Beck. With Hoffa out, Beck might be able to get them back into the AFL-CIO, they feel.

Furthermore, even some of Hoffa's shield - carriers across the country aren't taking that possibility as a personal insult.

TELL YOU WHY. All the other Teamster presidents — meaning Dan Tobin and Dave Beck—had let the world's biggest union run like a series of baronies. Today Hoffa and his aides, with Executive Vice President Harold Gibbons as prime minister, are whipping the union into a centralized government.

The Teamsters across the land will rally to Hoffa while he's under the klieg lights. But they want him to let them alone in their own territories. However, Hoffa's plans call for tough central authority over all locals and trades divisions.

Not only that. Hoffa plans to tie the Teamsters to Harry Bridges' left-wing Pacific Coast Longshoreman's Union, the ousted New York shoremen and the National Maritime union in a coalition which is bound to bring federal restraining laws — and keep the Teamos in a hurricane of publicity for years.

The Spotlight May Shift

WASHINGTON

It will be a remarkable thing if the Communists — with all the initiative in their hands — permit any rest for U.S. policy in the Far East.

But the possibility by no means can be ruled out. Already there are indications Moscow anticipates a gradual easing of the Far East crisis.

The Soviets seem to be preparing for that, getting ready to swing the spotlight slowly back again to the Middle East.

The Communists do not have control over the rise and fall of crises in the Arab East. Their mode of operation there is to take fullest advantage of crises which do arise.

The Communists do have control over the Formosa crisis. When they want to start it going, they have only to order the shooting to begin. When they want it eased, they have only to ease off the shooting.

By pouring on pressure now, the Red Chinese might logically hope to wrest at least the offshore islands from the Nationalists. The United States clearly does not want to go to war over the islands. But there are a number of elements in the crisis which can spell danger to the Communists themselves.

Not the least of these elements is the possibility that the situation can damage relations between Moscow and Red China.

In an aside at his Wednesday news conference, President Eisenhower wondered why, if the Nationalist-Communist strife was really civil war, Soviet boss Khrushchev should say the Soviet Union might participate in that war.

However, Khrushchev has seemed rather anxious to avoid giving the impression the Soviets would join Red China in a war on the Nationalist Formosa regime. He said an attack by another power on Red China would be considered an attack on the U.S.S.R. The Peiping-Moscow treaty requires that.

Moscow probably would be unwilling to underwrite a real risk of war between Red China and the United States. The Soviets, however, still are in a position to persuade the Red Chinese to ease the crisis. Without Soviet help, Red China would find a long-sustained shelling of the offshore islands (now in its second month) an expensive proposition.

The Middle East offers a more fertile field for Communist endeavors. There the Soviets are not directly involved. They can keep their own situation relatively secure. And the Middle East does not raise the problem of aggravations between the two big Communist allies.

American and British troop withdrawals from Lebanon and Jordan may be a signal for the Soviets to concentrate the lion's share of their attention on the Arabs once again, for good reasons.

When Britain leaves Jordan, there's a good chance of a new Holy Land explosion. When the Americans leave Lebanon, a government which for all practical purposes is a revolutionary regime, will be in control.

There are evidences of a tug-of-war for power inside Iraq's revolutionary regime. The oil of Kuwait is of enormous economic importance to Britain, and the British will fight hard if Arab nationalist pressures threaten their presence in the little Persian Gulf sheikdom.

Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko apparently caught the significance of a single little word in the announcement of Britain's withdrawl plans. She would, said Britain, "begin" the withdrawal Oct. 20. In a U.N. speech, Gromyko called it stalling.

It's likely to be a slow and reluctant withdrawal, far too slow to suit the Soviets. Moscow hopes to apply the heat in the Middle East. The new explosion there, which by present indications could come some time around the turn of the year, cannot arrive too soon for Moscow.

Abuse Of Power

By David Lawrence

Congress May Take Action Against Court

The present Supreme Court, by its action this week, may have made inevitable the passage by Congress eventually of some type of legislation limiting the powers of the high court.

David Lawrence

The Constitution itself gives Congress the right to make limitations on the Supreme Court's authority over certain kinds of cases. The fight will be a long one, and virtually the entire American Bar will in the end become participants in the debate.

For, irrespective of the merits of the segregation-integration controversy itself, lawyers everywhere will be concerned, because overnight the Supreme Court has demolished some important pillars in the existing system of judicial procedure.

The Supreme Court not only has asserted the right at any time to reverse "settled law" but claims the right to say years afterwards that it rendered a decision containing language which is not to be found in the text of the first opinion.

Thus, nowhere in the May 17, 1954, decision of the Supreme Court of the United States can any language be found that says that the court on that day and in that opinion ruled that segregation is unconstitutional "where there is state participation through any arrangement, management, funds or property."

YET THE COURT claims this was what it said in 1954. Sen. McClellan of Arkansas makes this comment:

"That was not their holding in their May 17, 1954, decision in the case of Brown vs. The Board of Education, 347 U.S. 483, nor was it implied, and no one could so infer."

This departure from established practice means that the Supreme Court has taken unto itself the right not merely to interpret its previous decisions but to amend them at any time by adding language that was not in the original. Congress will doubtless institute an inquiry of its own into this strange development.

The court, of course, has a perfect right to say now what it thinks the 1954 decision meant or could mean. But can the court put new words into the text of four years ago and claim that the language was actually there in the first place?

What legal reasoning, moreover, prompted the Supreme Court to denounce "evasive schemes for segregation" and decide a case in that category—now pending in a lower court—even before this case is argued before the justices of the high court itself?

THE SUPREME COURT now has issued through that device a blanket warning that "state support of segregated schools through any arrangement, management, funds, or property cannot be squared with the 14th Amendment's command that no state shall deny to any person within its jurisdiction equal protection of the laws."

This is in the nature of an advisory opinion about future cases—something that the Supreme Court of the United States has never rendered since the Dred Scott case a hundred years ago.

At that time the court first decided the only question at issue—that the lower court had no jurisdiction over the case itself—and then proceeded to rule on broad constitutional matters related to slavery as a whole. It was a deviation from established practice that aroused nationwide resentment among lawyers.

To condone this week's repetition of the precedent is to invite judicial chaos. For at any moment the Department of Justice now can get an injunction from a lower court closing any private school—religious or non-denominational—where there is segregation and claim Supreme Court backing for the action. It can be asserted that segregation in any institution being given "state support" has been banned as unconstitutional.

CERTAINLY real estate tax exemptions for private-school buildings, the exemption from taxation of the income received by such private schools, and government payment of bus transportation for pupils attending parochial schools are each a means of "state support." Can any private school hereafter be segregated and stay within "the law of the land"?

The Constitution itself says that, with the exception of cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and counsuls, and cases in which a state itself is a party, "the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make."

In the case ruled upon by the Supreme Court last Monday, the State of Arkansas itself was not a party to the suit. The way is, therefore, open for Congress to issue new "regulations" to curb the Supreme Court's abuse of judicial power.

Forgotten Candidates

By Raymond Moley

I assume that whoever reads this piece knows the names or, as in one state the name, of his representatives in the Legislature. But I suggest that the reader ask the first friend the question and ponder a bit about the answer. It will probably be "No."

These forgotten people and the candidates who are running against them are most important this year and in 1960. For after the census of 1960 there will be a very considerable overhauling of the apportionment among the states of members of the U.S. House of Representatives.

In almost every case where there is a change in the number, it will be necessary to re-draw the boundaries of the congressional districts. And as every American knows, some very queer tricks can be done by gerrymandering.

The Census Bureau estimates that the following states will gain House members: California 7, Florida 3, Michigan 2, Texas 2, Alaska 1, Arizona 1, Indiana 1, Maryland 1, Ohio 1, Oregon 1.

THE SEATS thus gained will be taken from the following states: New York 3, Pennsylvania 3, Arkansas 2, Massachusetts 2, Alabama 1, Georgia 1, Illinois 1, Iowa 1, Kansas 1, Maine 1, Minnesota 1, Mississippi 1, North Carolina 1, West Virginia 1.

Since the control of the various legislatures involved will have such a great bearing on the political and ideological character of Congress, wise people are giving more attention than ever to the campaign and elections of members of the legislature.

Among those worldly-wise who are looking to that matter of political advantage are the leaders of the politically dedicated labor unions. For they are determined to do everything they can to have a House of Representatives which will pass no legislation that they oppose.

They have almost that sort of U.S. Senate now, judging by the votes in the recently adjourned Congress. It is the House which concerns them most, the House that blocked their Kennedy-Ives Bill.

And so in addition to giving generously of time and manpower to candidates for the U.S. Senate and House whom they favor, they are striving in every state to assure the election of their favorites for seats in the Legislatures.

THOSE MEMBERS are elected for the most part in districts.

That means working at the local level, providing propaganda, acquainting voters with the candidates, planning to put thousands of workers into registration efforts and at election to mobilize thousands of automobiles in places all over the nation to get their vote to the polls.

No such effort is being made by the regulars in the old parties. They have neither the workers, the money nor the cars to commandeer.

Consider, if you are of a conservative turn of mind, the states in which the gains and losses enumerated above appear. By a simple process of gerrymandering, legislatures in the states which will lose House members can oust conservatives and replace them with "liberals."

In states which gain members, it will be possible to make net gains for the cause. In states like Mississippi, Kansas and Iowa the loss is almost certain to be the loss of a conservative. Maybe in Maine also. And possibly in Massachusetts, North Carolina, and Minnesota.

In New York the legislature is likely to be Republican and conservative as in the past. But with big gains in California (the legislature is about evenly divided now after steady conservative losses for several years) and in Michigan, Oregon and possibly Florida, enough House seats may be turned to assure a liberal-labor balance in the House for years.

This is something every citizen should ponder as election nears.

According to the Navy's "Hurricane Hunters," hurricanes are tropical cyclones occurring in the Atlantic, Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico. By common agreement they are called "tropical storms" until the maximum wind speed exceeds 75 miles per hour, after which they are called hurricanes.

Sen. Green Is 91 Today, Oldest To Serve Congress

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Spry and witty, Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-RI), oldest man ever to serve in Congress, today entered his 92nd year whimsically considering wearing his toga to the century mark.

Green's 91st birthday was a bustling one. It included his usual daily two-mile walk, a family birthday party, the opening of countless congratulatory telegrams and a radio interview.

In the interview, the venerable chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said he didn't think the United States had the "slightest obligation" to defend Quemoy and Matsu, and that to do would not be wise, adding: "We got in deeper than we should have."

Regarding U.S. recognition of Red China, he said: "I haven't said whether we should or should not recognize Red China. It depends on the circumstances under which it is proposed. There are many arguments on both sides. It appears to me that the arguments in favor are stronger, but I am not committing myself now. It is rather ridiculous make-believe on the part of the State Department to keep on recognizing that island of Formosa as China."

Referring to his own political career, Green said: "If I run again in 1960, a six-year term will take me to the age of 99 and I expect to serve until I'm 100. Would it be right for me to run for a six-year term when I only want to serve one year?"

Then he chuckled: "Of course, I'm not to be taken literally."

Verdict Seen Today In Fraud Check Trial

The jury sworn in by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard at Lisbon is composed of Mary A. Burkhart, Helen Vess, Robert L. Byrne, Earl Mangus and Mary Green of East Liverpool; Genevieve Hill, Jeanette Muhliman and Leah Broomall of Salem; Thelma Ward of Lisbon, Florence Roberts of East Palestine, Clarence Shontz of Columbiana and Beatrice Schneider of North Georgetown. Dorothy Boley of East Liverpool is the alternate.

Nixon, Stevenson Debate On Formosa, Other Issues

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Vice President Nixon and Adlai Stevenson debated Formosa and other issues Thursday night—not face to face, but back to back.

The old foes and potential future rivals for president spoke in adjoining halls of the massive Oakland Civic Auditorium. A thick fire wall separated Republicans from Democrats.

Nixon told the Republicans the Eisenhower administration opposes turning the islands of Quemoy and Matsu over to the Chinese Communists. He said to do so would be a reward for aggression.

The vice president spoke of the administration's policy as being flexible toward negotiation if the Chinese Communists agree to a cease-fire. But he said it is firm against yielding to the use of force.

Stevenson told the Democrats that the United States should make clear it will fight to defend Formosa, but that the tiny islands off the coast of China are another matter.

He said Quemoy and Matsu historically always have belonged to China. He also said the present fight between Nationalists and Communists is a continuation of the Chinese civil war in which he believes the United States should not intervene.

Nixon, winding up a campaign swing of his home state, spoke before 850 persons who paid $100 a plate for dinner, and 1,000 more who chipped in $5 each just to listen. He was flanked by Sen. William F. Knowland and Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, Republican nominees for each other's present jobs.

Stevenson attracted 1,400 to a fund-raising rally scaled at $1, $3 and $5.

Nixon made several passing references to "orators in the other room," but did not mention Stevenson by name. Knight was more pointed. He described the "gentleman next door" as "some with holes in their shoes, some with holes in their heads." A Stevenson hole-in-the-shoe picture became a trademark of the two-time Democratic presidential candidate.

Stevenson didn't hesitate to needle Nixon. He started right off by saying he didn't know which Nixon was behind the wall—"the new or the old." He criticized President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles for "suddenly changing their positions" on Formosa, but observed, "Our agile vice president won't have much trouble catching up."

Nixon, on his side, denied there was either any change of policy or weakening of the administration position. This statement referred to Dulles' proposal for reducing the size of Nationalist forces on Quemoy and Matsu in the event of a dependable cease-fire.

Woman Faces Surgery To Remove Old Needle

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. (AP) — A woman was to undergo surgery today for removal of a surgical needle apparently left inside her after an abdominal operation 12 years ago.

Mrs. Olivette Schutt consulted a private physician about a stomach pain that had bothered her since 1946. He detected the needle lodged near the back of her abdominal wall.

Mrs. Schutt said she was operated on at the base hospital in 1946 for removal of a ruptured cyst. She was the wife of an Air Force man at the time. They since have been divorced.

500 Battle Brush Blaze In California

MONROVIA, Calif. (AP) — Five hundred fire fighters battled today to control a fire that has raced through 320 acres of tinder-dry brushland on the outskirts of this suburban foothill community.

Firemen said at least seven homes have been destroyed by the blaze blamed on three children playing with matches.

A receptionist at a sanitarium told firemen she saw three children start the fire Thursday afternoon.

Two sanitariums were evacuated as the flames crept toward Monrovia, 10 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

Rainfall High In September

Extra Precipitation Delays Farm Work

Rainfall for the month amounted to 4.25 inches, compared to the average of 2.94 for September in his 64 - year records.

The 1.31-inch above normal precipitation delayed farm work, caused additional crop damage and extended the abnormal wet weather to a six - month period, Copeland said.

Rainfall for the first nine months of the year now totals 39.87 inches, compared to the normal 29.45 inches for a nine-month period. Wheat is being planted in the wettest soil farmers have ever had, and some growers are unable to work the ground because of the condition, Copeland said.

If the damp weather continues, there will be a smaller wheat acreage planted than had been expected, he added.

Sunshine last month amounted to 48 per cent, far below the customary 70 per cent, Copeland said. There were 10 clear days, 9 partly cloudy and 11 cloudy.

The temperature averaged 61.4 degrees, somewhat cooler than the normal 63 degrees. The mercury ranged from a high of 87 degrees Sept. 4 to a low of 29 degrees Sept. 29.

Copeland pointed out there were no killing frosts last month, compared to three such frosts in September 1957. The low temperature of 29 degrees lasted only a short time and caused no damage.

Bricker Declares Inflation Greatest Menace To U.S.

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) says "inflation is the greatest menace to our country."

Speaking here Thursday night, Bricker declared that the new Congress must "stabilize the rotting American dollars." He said he was confident the administration could have balanced the federal budget this year and will do it next year. Deficit spending was caused by such programs as national defense and increased social security benefits, Bricker said, but added they were vital.

Earlier, on a paid political program on a Cleveland television station, Bricker answered questions from four newsmen but declined to state his views on the proposed amendment to regulate labor contracts in Ohio. He said the proposal was not partisan and not a national issue.

He said he would disclose his view on the issue later on in his campaign for reelection.

The air about us would appear as black space, were it not for the thousands of minute particles contained in each cubic inch of air. If they were not present, there would be nothing to deflect the rays of light.

Kiwanians Hear Drive Head

Community Fund Goal Seen Under Actual Needs

"An East Liverpool aroused to the need for the services provided by the Community Fund is vital to the success of this year's campaign," the Kiwanis Club was told Thursday by Harry Stein, director, at a meeting at the Travelers Hotel.

Stein, of Ketchum, Inc., declared the current drive "must and will be put over" because on its success hinges the fate of the fund program in the future.

He said the goal of $83,173 actually represents a paring down of the budgets of the participating agencies, and that the total actually needed would be about $94,000.

The director said the success of the campaign is vital, because previous drives have been "failure after failure — only the semblance of a community fund."

He said the city's efforts have been dissipated on other "splinter-fund drives," and the community is "at the crossroads and must decide to put the big one over."

Stein said businesses and industries, along with key workers, have already demonstrated a renewed interest in the fund at the start of the drive and increased contributions are evident.

He explained the program is focused upon the contribution of one hour's pay a month from employees.

Ketchum, Inc., which has been retained for $6,200 to direct the fund - raising program, is not new to East Liverpool, Stein said. He said the firm headed the City Hospital fund drive whose goal was $750,000 and which netted over $1 million.

Maj. William Murtaugh of the Salvation Army, program chairman for the Kiwanis meeting, pointed out the financial side of the fund drive requires the time and ability of competent men. Leaders in the participating agencies and local businessmen and leaders are too involved in their own work and activities to devote time to the details of a successful drive, he said.

"There should be no criticism of out - of - town aid," Maj. Murtaugh said. "Gen. George Washington obtained the services of an out-of-towner in Lafayette in the Revolution, and was glad to use him."

Representatives of the six participating agencies in the fund spoke briefly on their activities and goals and the roles in which they served the area.

The speakers included Bruce Roush of the Boy Scouts, Barbara Yager of the Girl Scouts, Bruce Davis of the YMCA, Judy Lowers of the Salvation Army, Don Seibert of the East Liverpool Recreation Council and Air Force Recruiter Sgt. John Rothier, who discussed the USO.

Robert Metcalfe, president, named a committee to direct the sponsoring of the Don Cossack Chorus concert Nov. 28 at the Memorial Auditorium. Rowland Kaufman heads the committee, which includes William Porter, Judson English, Joseph Prager, David Beatty and Bert Wakefield.

Wakefield, secretary, will be the club's delegate to the Ohio Kiwanis convention Sunday through Wednesday at Columbus.

Truck Driver Hurt At Work

District Boy Injured In Fall From Bicycle

A truck driver injured at work and a boy hurt in a fall from a bicycle were among six adults and youngsters treated at City Hospital Thursday following separate mishaps.

Louis Bradich, 22, of 1101 Lisbon St., a driver for Montgomery Ward & Co., was treated for a laceration of the head received when a heavy board fell from his truck and hit him while at Minerva.

Larry Vincent, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bryan of R. D. 2, was treated last night for cuts of the head and elbows received in a fall from his bicycle.

Mrs. Bessie Wilson, 717 Ogden St., received a cut of the little finger of the left hand when caught in a car door.

Julie Mason, 1, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Mason, 1073 Maple St., suffered a cut of the foot when she stepped on broken glass.

Injured In Crash

FORT KNOX, Ky. (AP)—Airman 3.C. Jackie Berry, 21, of Middletown, Ohio, was in serious condition in a Fort Knox Hospital today after he and three companions were injured in an auto accident Thursday.

The prices of gasoline for automobiles range from 42 cents to 70 cents per gallon throughout Europe — which, of course, accounts for the great number of small, high - mileage cars driven by Europeans.

More Facilities Required

Gov. O'Neill Gives Views On Mental Health Program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 3,600 new beds the state will have for mental patients in the next few years will do little more than relieve overcrowding, Gov. C. William O'Neill believes.

The governor gave his views today at a legislative conference of the Ohio Mental Health Federation.

By the time the new patient facilities are ready, he said, Ohio's population and the number of persons needing mental health help will have increased greatly.

"As we crowd up tighter, as our cities grow, we create tensions, and tensions are one cause of mental disturbances," the governor said. "There is much to be done, this year, next year and for many, many years after that."

The Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction has made spectacular gains during recent years, he said.

The department will need at least 15 per cent more money than it now gets to carry on the present program and operate the new facilities as they open, the governor said. Still more money will be needed to pay salaries of persons staffing the new hospitals.

The governor outlined several proposals he will place before the General Assembly next year.

One would permit Ohio to give mental health care to persons who have lived in the state less than one year. Another would protect against unnecessary commitments to a mental institution.

A third would spell out state and community responsibility in establishing local mental hygiene clinics. If the state becomes too heavily involved in supporting community clinics, the governor said, "You have something quite comparable to state or socialized medicine."

A fourth proposal would put teeth in the law licensing private nursing homes for the mildly mentally ill and aged. The law provides a $1,000 fine but doesn't say who is to assess it.

A sickroom disinfectant may be prepared by putting a teaspoonful of iodine on a small saucer, stretching a piece of gauze over the top, and placing it where the air will carry the fumes into the room.

Rainfall High In September

Extra Precipitation Delays Farm Work

Rainfall for the month amounted to 4.25 inches, compared to the average of 2.94 for September in his 64 - year records.

The 1.31-inch above normal precipitation delayed farm work, caused additional crop damage and extended the abnormal wet weather to a six - month period, Copeland said.

Rainfall for the first nine months of the year now totals 39.87 inches, compared to the normal 29.45 inches for a nine-month period. Wheat is being planted in the wettest soil farmers have ever had, and some growers are unable to work the ground because of the condition, Copeland said.

If the damp weather continues, there will be a smaller wheat acreage planted than had been expected, he added.

Sunshine last month amounted to 48 per cent, far below the customary 70 per cent, Copeland said. There were 10 clear days, 9 partly cloudy and 11 cloudy.

The temperature averaged 61.4 degrees, somewhat cooler than the normal 63 degrees. The mercury ranged from a high of 87 degrees Sept. 4 to a low of 29 degrees Sept. 29.

Copeland pointed out there were no killing frosts last month, compared to three such frosts in September 1957. The low temperature of 29 degrees lasted only a short time and caused no damage.

Bricker Declares Inflation Greatest Menace To U.S.

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) says "inflation is the greatest menace to our country."

Speaking here Thursday night, Bricker declared that the new Congress must "stabilize the rotting American dollars." He said he was confident the administration could have balanced the federal budget this year and will do it next year. Deficit spending was caused by such programs as national defense and increased social security benefits, Bricker said, but added they were vital.

Earlier, on a paid political program on a Cleveland television station, Bricker answered questions from four newsmen but declined to state his views on the proposed amendment to regulate labor contracts in Ohio. He said the proposal was not partisan and not a national issue.

He said he would disclose his view on the issue later on in his campaign for reelection.

The air about us would appear as black space, were it not for the thousands of minute particles contained in each cubic inch of air. If they were not present, there would be nothing to deflect the rays of light.

Kiwanians Hear Drive Head

Community Fund Goal Seen Under Actual Needs

"An East Liverpool aroused to the need for the services provided by the Community Fund is vital to the success of this year's campaign," the Kiwanis Club was told Thursday by Harry Stein, director, at a meeting at the Travelers Hotel.

Stein, of Ketchum, Inc., declared the current drive "must and will be put over" because on its success hinges the fate of the fund program in the future.

He said the goal of $83,173 actually represents a paring down of the budgets of the participating agencies, and that the total actually needed would be about $94,000.

The director said the success of the campaign is vital, because previous drives have been "failure after failure — only the semblance of a community fund."

He said the city's efforts have been dissipated on other "splinter-fund drives," and the community is "at the crossroads and must decide to put the big one over."

Stein said businesses and industries, along with key workers, have already demonstrated a renewed interest in the fund at the start of the drive and increased contributions are evident.

He explained the program is focused upon the contribution of one hour's pay a month from employees.

Ketchum, Inc., which has been retained for $6,200 to direct the fund - raising program, is not new to East Liverpool, Stein said. He said the firm headed the City Hospital fund drive whose goal was $750,000 and which netted over $1 million.

Maj. William Murtaugh of the Salvation Army, program chairman for the Kiwanis meeting, pointed out the financial side of the fund drive requires the time and ability of competent men. Leaders in the participating agencies and local businessmen and leaders are too involved in their own work and activities to devote time to the details of a successful drive, he said.

"There should be no criticism of out - of - town aid," Maj. Murtaugh said. "Gen. George Washington obtained the services of an out-of-towner in Lafayette in the Revolution, and was glad to use him."

Representatives of the six participating agencies in the fund spoke briefly on their activities and goals and the roles in which they served the area.

The speakers included Bruce Roush of the Boy Scouts, Barbara Yager of the Girl Scouts, Bruce Davis of the YMCA, Judy Lowers of the Salvation Army, Don Seibert of the East Liverpool Recreation Council and Air Force Recruiter Sgt. John Rothier, who discussed the USO.

Robert Metcalfe, president, named a committee to direct the sponsoring of the Don Cossack Chorus concert Nov. 28 at the Memorial Auditorium. Rowland Kaufman heads the committee, which includes William Porter, Judson English, Joseph Prager, David Beatty and Bert Wakefield.

Wakefield, secretary, will be the club's delegate to the Ohio Kiwanis convention Sunday through Wednesday at Columbus.

Truck Driver Hurt At Work

District Boy Injured In Fall From Bicycle

A truck driver injured at work and a boy hurt in a fall from a bicycle were among six adults and youngsters treated at City Hospital Thursday following separate mishaps.

Louis Bradich, 22, of 1101 Lisbon St., a driver for Montgomery Ward & Co., was treated for a laceration of the head received when a heavy board fell from his truck and hit him while at Minerva.

Larry Vincent, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bryan of R. D. 2, was treated last night for cuts of the head and elbows received in a fall from his bicycle.

Mrs. Bessie Wilson, 717 Ogden St., received a cut of the little finger of the left hand when caught in a car door.

Julie Mason, 1, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Mason, 1073 Maple St., suffered a cut of the foot when she stepped on broken glass.

Melvin Rowley, 20, of Calcutta was treated last night for an injury of an elbow received in a fall.

The prices of gasoline for automobiles range from 42 cents to 70 cents per gallon throughout Europe — which, of course, accounts for the great number of small, high - mileage cars driven by Europeans.

More Facilities Required

Gov. O'Neill Gives Views On Mental Health Program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 3,600 new beds the state will have for mental patients in the next few years will do little more than relieve overcrowding, Gov. C. William O'Neill believes.

By the time the new patient facilities are ready, he said, Ohio's population and the number of persons needing mental health help will have increased greatly.

"As we crowd up tighter, as our cities grow, we create tensions, and tensions are one cause of mental disturbances," the governor said. "There is much to be done, this year, next year and for many, many years after that."

The Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction has made spectacular gains during recent years, he said.

The department will need at least 15 per cent more money than it now gets to carry on the present program and operate the new facilities as they open, the governor said. Still more money will be needed to pay salaries of persons staffing the new hospitals.

The governor outlined several proposals he will place before the General Assembly next year.

One would permit Ohio to give mental health care to persons who have lived in the state less than one year. Another would protect against unnecessary commitments to a mental institution.

A third would spell out state and community responsibility in establishing local mental hygiene clinics. If the state becomes too heavily involved in supporting community clinics, the governor said, "You have something quite comparable to state or socialized medicine."

A fourth proposal would put teeth in the law licensing private nursing homes for the mildly mentally ill and aged. The law provides a $1,000 fine but doesn't say who is to assess it.

A sickroom disinfectant may be prepared by putting a teaspoonful of iodine on a small saucer, stretching a piece of gauze over the top, and placing it where the air will carry the fumes into the room.

tried to supplant Curran yet, she replied, "I've never met the man, but he's too much of a gentleman to throw me in jail."

Miss Counts will do her fighting without a gun, she says. She added that she's against capital punishment and will bank her success heavily on the sociology and economic courses she said she learned at Radford Teacher College in Radford, W.Va.

Miss Counts hasn't even been sworn in yet. Egan says he's waiting until the bonding company says she's good for $5,000 coverage.

Like the 10 police chiefs Egan has fired and hired during his hectic 4½ years as mayor, Miss Counts will have to know who's in charge.

In his official message to her Egan said: "I want the department renovated, improved and streamlined. But before you make any major decision I want to be consulted."

He told her she was to listen to no phony commissioner-mayors or anybody else.

Miss Counts is supposed to do this for the next 60-days. It's a temporary job, Egan said.

The tall (5 foot 8) Miss Counts says she's not worried about the possibility she may not get her paycheck.

"That'll be all right," she said. "I make twice as much as the chief's salary by free-lance writing." The chief gets $7,092 a year.

The seniors refer to Lenn's as "the only recreation center Dickson has to offer."

"Why can't we have the privilege of putting in the Dicksonian the things we ourselves w a n t," their petition said. "We want our yearbook run the way it should be run."

The parents haven't commented. They'll have their say, with their offspring present, at a hastily called Parent-Teachers Assn., meeting tonight.

administration of the federal laws that were established to protect labor's rights."

He accused the Republican administration of appointing anti-labor members to the National Labor Relations Board. "Then this board began to chip away at labor's rights in decision after decision."

Evidence of the high interest in the proposal to regulate labor contracts was evidenced in one of the first questions asked Truman on his arrival here Thursday night. A reporter at Cleveland Hopkins Airport, where Truman arrived to start a brief tour of Ohio on behalf of Democratic candidates, asked what the former president though about the issue.

Truman said he would talk about that today.

Thursday, George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, termed a campaign for the controversial legislation "deceitful propaganda, a campaign of fraud."

Meany said the National Assn. of Manufacturers and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce are supporting such laws. He characterized the NAM as consistently opposed to "progressive legislation that would benefit the workers."

Mentioning no names, he criticized "a candidate for governor" in Ohio who is supporting the proposal to regulate union contracts.

Gov. C. William O'Neill has announced his support of an amendment to the Ohio constitution which states, "No employer or labor organization shall deny or abridge the right to work by requiring membership or non-membership in, or payment or non-payment of money to, a labor organization as a condition of employment or continued employment in this state."

His Democratic opponent, Michael V. DiSalle, has stated opposition to the proposal.

Coach Discusses Game For Club At Wellsville

Errors of players in the Chester-Wellsville football game were explained by Coach Ken Woods to members of the Omni Orange and Black Activity Club in connection with the showing of the f i l m Wednesday night in the visual education room of the Daw Junior High School at Wellsville.

Discussions were held on having the cheering section seated with the band and for providing a doctor at each home game. The group will hold a bake sale at a later date. It was reported that membership had reached 100 and the drive will continue. C h a r l e s Stone, president, presided.

Another meeting will be h e l d Wednesday night at 7:30 (EST) with the projection of the Wellsville-Bellaire St. John game film as a feature.

France, has for its part chosen fraternity."

Sunday's vote was also taken as an expression of confidence in De Gaulle to settle France's outstanding problems, and the Algerian rebellion is the greatest of these.

De Gaulle's program to settle the nearly four-year-old rebellion includes distribution of 625,000 acres of farm land to Moslem farmers, at least 10 per cent of public jobs to go to Moslems, housing for a million persons and greater educational opportunities for Moslems.

De Gaulle told a cheering throng of Frenchmen and North Africans at Orleansville Thursday that the overwhelming approval of a new French Fifth Republic in Sunday's constitutional referendum "proved that Algeria wants to remain with France."

The man who probably will become the first president of the Fifth Republic pledged an improvement in Algerian living conditions.

Fight Against NAACP Slated In Arkansas

Organization Cited By Attorney General For Racial Problems

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett Thursday bared plans for an all-out campaign against operations of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People. He blamed the organization for the South's racial problems.

An NAACP official promptly charged the planned attack was a spectacular effort by Arkansas politicians to divert attention from their failure to solve the school integration dilemma here.

Bennett unveiled a six-point plan for hampering activities of the NAACP and said he had asked congressional delegations of 14 southern states to join in what he termed a "southern plan for peace."

Clarence A. Laws, Arkansas field secretary for the NAACP, said the Bennett plan undoubtedly would "shock decent, freedom-loving citizens everywhere."

Laws contended the state's political leaders want to throw up a political smokescreen to cover themselves "for having so miserably misinformed and misled the people of Arkansas in the school controversy."

Bennett's strategy calls for the withdrawal of federal tax deduction provileges for the NAACP, state pressure on the organization's attorneys, economic pressure and criminal prosecution of individuals allied with the NAACP cause.

Meanwhile, the head of a newly formed private school corporation expressed a hope the city's white high school students could begin studies next week.

Dr. T. J. Raney, head of the Little Rock Private School Corp. said Thursday a recent appeal for financial aid to the organization had brought a flood of donations.

some 19,000 salaried employes and skilled tradesmen not covered in Wednesday's agreement.

GM's settlement followed the pattern of the Ford-Chrysler pacts. The three-year contract, replacing the agreement that ran out May 29, provides GM workers will get between 24 and 30 cents hourly increase over the life of the contract.

GM followed Ford and Chrysler in giving the UAW concessions, including continuation of pay boosts if the cost of living continues to increase, an increase in supplemental unemployment pay and a severance pay plan to take care of workers who lose their jobs when plants are closed or moved.

GM had insisted right up to the time of the strike that it would not give the UAW any concessions above those on which the union agreed with Ford and Chrysler.

But in the settlement, Reuther obtained these additional gains:

1.—An end to the 7½ hour work day for some GM employes. Reuther said both Ford and Chrysler had abolished the short work day in the past two years.

2—Five cent an hour premium pay base for workers scheduled to work seven consecutive days. The work previously had been done at straight time pay.

3—A GM agreement to study what the UAW had called wage inquities, under which GM plants in the same geographical area paid different wage scales for the same type of work.

GM's average hourly wage is the highest in the industry—$2.62 as compared with $2.52 at Ford and $2.33 at Chrysler.

Reuther Failed To Get Main Goals With Big 3

DETROIT (AP)—United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther set two main goals for 1958 bargaining with the Big Three automakers. He didn't get either one.

Reuther began beating the drums last year for a shorter work week labeling this as the UAW's No. 1 goal.

the purposes of the commission, which was formed about 10 years ago as a result of a clean stream compact drawn up by eight states on the Ohio and its tributaries. They are Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Virginia and New York.

Horton added that the University of Louisville already has started a survey that will indicate the improved fishing that can be expected when the stream cleanup is completed. He said the survey will show fishing as it was before pollution became a problem, its status now and what can be expected in the future.

The visitors were welcomed by Safety-Service Director Dan Maggianetti, who referred to East Liverpool as "the best town in the state" and termed the sewage treatment facilities "the best plant in Ohio."

In a business session, Carl West, an operator at the sewage plant in Marietta, was elected president to succeed Nobel Sherrard of New Philadelphia.

The conference picked the dates and places for three of its 1959 meetings. They are: April 2 at Dover, June 4 in Wellsville and Oct. 1 at Marietta. No date was set for the annual family picnic, which generally is held in August.

The meeting opened with a tour of East Liverpool's new sewage treatment plant in West End and the lift station along the riverfront interceptor sewer.

Happiness in the Home Comes First in Ohio

If Issue 2 Is Passed . . . Family Security Will be Weakened

A woman has to look ahead. And she doesn't have to look far ahead to see that Issue 2 is a threat to the security and happiness of her family.

If this amendment passed, the family breadwinner's job security, the only job protection he has, would be undermined. His wages would fall.

Housewives simply would have less to spend to keep the family going. For many a woman, Issue 2 would have the same effect as stealing milk from the refrigerator.

If large corporations didn't intend to lower wages (and increase their profits), why else would they throw so much money into the effort to force through Issue 2, the so-called 'right-to-work' amendment?

For an idea of what Issue 2 could do to you, look at the situation in the southern 'right-to-work' states.

In the states where 'right-to-work' laws have been in effect the longest, the typical housewife simply can't make ends meet. She has $666 LESS to spend for each member of the family than the typical housewife in Ohio. (According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor statistics.)

In these states the average income is one-third LESS than in Ohio. That's one-third less to spend for milk . . . one-third less to spend for clothes . . . one-third less to spend for all the other necessities of life.

In these states, businessmen make less because their customers earn less. Farmers make less because there is a smaller market for their crops.

Everybody's hurt by the trick-title 'right-to-work' . . . but hit hardest of all is the housewife, every family's dollar stretcher.

Women in Ohio will recognize this law as a fraud and a danger to their home. Vote NO on Issue #2.

Jordan Chief Sure He Can Keep Order

The 3,000-man British military force sent in at the request of King Hussein in July will begin leaving the country Oct. 20.

In a written answer to questions submitted by The Associated Press, Rifai said:

"Insofar as the internal situation is concerned, the government is fully confident that conditions are steadily returning to normal."

This small Middle East nation has been resisting pressure from discontented elements within its borders and from some of its Arab neighbors for the past 18 months.

Rifai's confidence that Jordan has weathered the storm was supported by the fact that the youthful King has begun traveling freely about his realm and is being warmly received both in isolated desert districts and in Amman.

Wavy Street Surface Will Be Blacktopped

A section of new blacktop pavement will be laid on E. 3rd St. at Market St., eliminating a surface made wavy by heavy truck traffic, Safety - Service Director Dan Maggianetti said today.

The wavy pavement results from a condition known as "truck haulage," the extreme force exerted when a big rig's brakes are applied or it starts out in a low gear. The director said part of the pavement deterioration apparently resulted from surface water seeping under the blacktop.

"We are going to do as good a job as possible — rebuild the section from the base up — but it probably will require continual maintenance to keep it in good repair," he said.

Jordan Chief Sure He Can Keep Order

The 3,000-man British military force sent in at the request of King Hussein in July will begin leaving the country Oct. 20.

In a written answer to questions submitted by The Associated Press, Rifai said:

"Insofar as the internal situation is concerned, the government is fully confident that conditions are steadily returning to normal."

This small Middle East nation has been resisting pressure from discontented elements within its borders and from some of its Arab neighbors for the past 18 months.

Rifai's confidence that Jordan has weathered the storm was supported by the fact that the youthful King has begun traveling freely about his realm and is being warmly received both in isolated desert districts and in Amman.

Wavy Street Surface Will Be Blacktopped

A section of new blacktop pavement will be laid on E. 3rd St. at Market St., eliminating a surface made wavy by heavy truck traffic, Safety - Service Director Dan Maggianetti said today.

The wavy pavement results from a condition known as "truck haulage," the extreme force exerted when a big rig's brakes are applied or it starts out in a low gear. The director said part of the pavement deterioration apparently resulted from surface water seeping under the blacktop.

"We are going to do as good a job as possible — rebuild the section from the base up — but it probably will require continual maintenance to keep it in good repair," he said.

Clevelander Turns Out Book Of Surgeon In War Of 1812

A novelist from Cleveland has written a tale of an indomitable man, Saul Brooks, a pioneer surgeon who developed a wide practice during the War of 1812.

The author is William Donohue Ellis who first made his mark in the literary world with "The Bounty Lands." His current success is entitled "The Brooks Legend," which is now available at the Carnegie Public Library, Miss Frances Jones, librarian, said.

The author is a New Englander who has adopted Ohio, but each year he returns to his native region to conduct a course in novel writing at the New England Writers' Conference.

Much of this current novel's action is laid in the state of Ohio—the Great Lakes Region and later in Chillicothe.

A second author, noted for wholesome and nostalgic fiction, to appear on the new fall list is Loula Grace Erdman. Her story, "The Short Summer," concerns Missouri small-town life just before World War I.

A third novel with an historic background reverts back to the period of James II in England. J. Kent Clark, who is by trade a professor at California Institute of Technology, paints a tapestry of political intrigue in "The King's Agent."

Those who admire the British aplomb and sense of humor will welcome this trio: the first a sparkling novel of divorce and remarriage by A. P. Herbert, "Made for Man;" the second, a funny novel about a middle-aged woman who, as a widow, recaptures her independence, "Pin a Rose on Me," by Josephine Blumenfeld, and the third tells of London during the days of the blitz — a Canadian Air Force pilot looks up a distant cousin and falls in love with her. The title of the latter is "Search for Amelia" by D. K. Findlay.

Those who prefer a modern medium for their escape reading will find the works of several fiction craftsman from which to choose.

Edward Streeter, who wrote "Father of the Bride," creates a real farce about dude ranching in "Mr. Robbins Rides Again." John P. Marquand in "Women and Thomas Harrow" writes sympathetically of an aging playwright. A stirring novel about a farm family in crisis is the theme for Martha Ostenso in "A Man Had Tall Sons."

The romance of distant places can often best be conjured up in a well turned novel. Margaret Trist, an Australia, does a fine job on her land in "Morning In Queensland." James Aldridge uses Kipling's old theme — the meeting of East and West — in a story of soldiering in North Africa, the title, "I Wish He Would Not Die."

Good westerns are a rarity but the following are recommended for their unique approach: "The Bronc People," by William East lake, and "Rendezvous," by Steve Frazee.

Who-dunnits are becoming available in larger numbers — Margery Allingham in "Tether's End," Ursula Curtiss in "The Face of the Tiger," and a Red Badge mystery by Robert Martin, "Killer Among Us."

William Gault combines a tingling element of mystery and suspense for teen-age readers in "Dim Thunder." The excitement evolves out of automobile racing for big stakes.

In Many Industrial Centers

Manufacturing And Trade Cuts Ohio Unemployment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor Department experts reported today unemployment in many Ohio industrial centers has been relieved somewhat by an upturn in manufacturing and trade.

On the other hand, only one Ohio area—Wheeling, W. Va.-Steubenville—has risen on the employment classification scale the department uses to show degrees of joblessness.

Wheeling-Steubenville had been given an F rating, the lowest, which means 12 per cent or more of the working force is unemployed.

Now this area has an E rating, or between 9 and 12 per cent unemployed. A department survey attributes the improvement to recall of workers in steel and metal products firms.

Offsetting this, a new area—Batavia-Georgetown - West Union in southern Ohio—has been added to those with substantial unemployment.

Last April, department records show, about 220,000 Ohioans were collecting unemployment insurance. This number had been reduced to 180,000 by the middle of last month.

Labor Department personnel say, however, that changes in any given area have been fairly small. Most of them are due to pickups in the steel and automobile business.

Looking ahead, Ohio employers also expect further gains in department store trade because of the forthcoming Christmas season.

Cleveland — Improvement in steel, fabricated metals, electrical machinery. Small gains expected by local employers to continue at least into next month.

Canton—No significant change in steel expected soon, but some gains in manufacturing.

Akron—Some improvement in tire manufacturing and in trade.

Cincinnati—A pickup in manufacturing and auto parts.

Youngstown — Improvements in steel and other manufacturing, and trade.

Lorain-Elyria—Not much change in steel. Small increases in manufacturing, including auto parts.

Columbus, Dayton, Hamilton-Middletown, Toledo, Ashtabula-Conneaut, Athens-Logan - Nelsonville, Cambridge, Defiance, East Liverpool-Salem, Findlay - Tiffin-Fostoria, Kent-Ravenna, Kenton, Lima, Mansfield.

Garfield Mothers Pick Committees

Chairmen and committee members have been named by the Garfield Homeroom Mothers to serve for the new school term.

Mrs. Willis Slagle is general chairman, succeeding Mrs. Richard Smith, while Mrs. John James is co - chairman. Others, with the chairman first followed by the co chairman, are:

First grade, Mrs. Edward Golden and Mrs. Robert Bucheit; second, Mrs. Louis Jewell and Mrs. Harold Calhoun; third, Mrs. Charles Northrup and Mrs. Charles Reed; fourth, Mrs. William Wain and Mrs. Janice Johnston; fifth, Mrs. Goldie Eddy and Mrs. Robert Kidd, and sixth, Mrs. Paul Shuman and Mrs. Charles David.

Mrs. Joseph Savina and Mrs. Robert Helstrom head a special education class and Mrs. Raymond Galloway and Mrs. Smith are in charge of the ways and means committee. Miss Ann Johnston is principal.

The Garfield Parent - Teacher League will meet Tuesday at 7:45 p. m. in the school library, Mrs. Smith said.

Preparatory Sermon To Be Given Tonight

The Rev. William Hender, assistant pastor, will preach the preparatory service sermon tonight at 7:30 in the Calcutta United Presbyterian Church.

The service is being held to enable persons to prepare for the Lord's Communion Sunday morning. It will be the final preparatory service in the old church.

Mrs. Elaine Hickman will be the organist and the Rev. Marven O. Bowman Jr., pastor, will assist Rev. Hender.

Hancock Woman Fined

Ohio Power Gets 'Green Light' To Obtain Senaca Co.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Power Co. of Canton can obtain control of the Seneca Light & Power Co., the Utilities Commission decided Thursday.

It approved plans for Ohio Power to issue 6,236 shares of common stock worth $131,009 to exchange for Seneca's property in Seneca and Crawford Counties.

In another case, the commission approved a $2,016 annual rate increase for the Glandorf Telephone Co. in Putnam County.

The commission allowed the Ayersville Telephone Co. in Defiance County to reduce charges for telephone extensions from $2.30 to 75 cents a month—a move to try to sell more extension services.

Public hearing on the request of the Nova Telephone Co. in Ashland County for a rate increase will begin Oct. 15, the commission decided.

Judge Franko Continues Fight Against Removal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Youngstown Municipal Judge Frank R. Franko is continuing his fight to prevent the state removing him from the bench.

Thursday Franko filed a motion with the Ohio Supreme Court, objecting to a quo warranto petition filed with the high court by Atty. Gen. William Saxbe. A quo warranto petition questions the right of a public official to continue in office.

The Supreme Court recently suspended Franko from the practice of law on the grounds of misconduct. Ohio law requires judges of municipal courts to be attorneys. To clarify whether under those circumstances Franko could remain a judge, Saxbe filed his petition.

In his objection Franko declared Saxbe's petition did not state facts warranting a quo warranto proceeding and also contended the action would deprive him of his constitutional rights.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Ignorance Now Fashionable On Quiz Shows

What with the quiz scandal and all, it's very unfashionable and just possibly criminal to know anything any more and on the newest money quiz called "Brains and Brawn," the experts hardly ever do.

John Crosby

I watched the first program where the brains were Willie Ley and Kurt Stehling, a couple of experts on rockets, although you'd never have suspected it from that program. No district attorney is ever going to ask them where they got their correct answers because they didn't have any.

Again last Saturday night, I watched Deems Taylor and Alex Templeton, who succeeded in concealing their enormous erudition in music very skillfully.

In fact, just between you and me, I think the shoe is on the other foot. I think the experts are not telling what they know. Even little old inexpert me harbored a smouldering suspicion that the mystery voice singing "Donna e Mobile" was that of Enrico Caruso.

Mystery voices singing "Donna e Mobile" are always Enrico Caruso. Any fool knows that. Templeton muttered something about Mario Lanza which is like taking the 5th Amendment.

BOTH TAYLOR and Templeton also managed to avoid pinning down an alto sax but Mr. Templeton had a right answer thrust on him almost against his will concerning who played the cadenza of a violin concerto.

Somehow, even though he managed to sidestep the right answers with real fancy footwork, Deems Taylor wound up winning $14,500.

I don't know how that's going to look to the district attorney when he gets around to investigating it.

Of course, Taylor had considerable help from a basketball player who shot baskets for thousands of dollars as his contribution to the team. If that sounds incomprehensible, all I can say is I'm sorry.

The explanation of quiz games is getting more and more incomprehensible and, the way things are going, it's just possible that in a year or so there'll only be seven people in the world who understand what they're trying to do on the latest quiz show (as there once was supposed to be only that number who understood Einstein's theory of relativity.)

"BRAINS AND BRAWN" is a replica of one of the most popular shows in France and on paper it works extremely well. One intellectual and one athlete team up, the brain winning points with his noggin while the other guy makes pitch shots as close as he can get to the pin.

On the first show, Sammy Snead and Tommy Bolt were doing just that out at Winged Foot Country Club under the excitable eyes of Jack Lescoulie who reported the epic struggle as if he had a direct line to posterity.

The camera work on these golf shots was extraordinarily good, the cameramen zeroing in on the little white ball all the way from tee to green at one point.

The second group of muscle boys, basketball players, seemed to be afflicted with the general paralysis afflicting all quiz contestants. They could hardly find the basket at all.

Actually, if you like quiz shows, "Brains and Brawn" makes a lot of sense—on paper. It's just in practice that the thing doesn't work because nobody knows anything. But no stool pigeon is ever going to pin anything on one of these contestants either.

A RATHER different attack on the problem of making the money quizzes respectable again was attempted by the granddaddy of them all, "The $64,000 Question," who, you might say, started the whole bloody mess. "The $64,000 Question" came back on the air for its fourth year, trailing kinescopes of its past shows like clouds of glory.

The big winners — Capt. McCutcheon, Gino Prato, Billy Pearson, Gloria Whatshername (you knew how to spell disestablishmentarianism), were disinterred (via kinescope) and saluted by Hal March in prose suitable to the great moments of history.

"Who can ever forget sweet little old Mabel Morris—the Dickens expert," he'd cry mistily. And there she was, the little old lady who looked and sounded like a parody on Ed Wynn, making me feel terribly guilty because I had forgotten her utterly.

Union Figure Cites O'Neill On Hot Issue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill's stand in support of the proposed constitutional amendment to regulate labor contracts has brought a rejoiner from the secretary - treasurer of the AFL-CIO.

Elmer F. Cope in a prepared statement questioned whether O'Neill's intention to make a major campaign issue of issue No. 2 has the backing of his fellow Republicans. Cope's statement said:

"While the governor seemingly has decided to do the bidding of the small, special-interest group promoting issue 2, we do not believe the entire Republican party has capitulated. . . .

"Gov. O'Neill apparently has decided not to risk going to the electorate on his record of the last two years. . . the governor is fully aware that issue 2 is not an anti-corruption measure. He knows too that the issue is not one of freedom or liberty."

The proposed amendment which will appear on the November ballots reads:

"No employer or labor organization shall deny or abridge the right to work by requiring membership or non-membership in, or payment or non-payment of money to, a labor organization as a condition of employment or continued unemployment in this state."

Jailed Driver Pays $263 To Meet Old Fine

Jailed Thursday for failure to pay a five - month - old fine for drunken driving, an East Liverpool man came up with $263 to regain his freedom — including $3 in costs for the writ under which he was arrested the second time.

He is John B. Keener, 629 River Rd., accused of failure to live up to a promise to make regular payments on a fine of $300 and $10 costs imposed May 3. Before he was jailed yesterday, Keener had paid $50—$10 on the costs and $40 on the fine.

Keener was taken before Acting Judge Robert A. Kapp yesterday morning after he was picked up on an execution issued out of Municipal Court for non-payment of the fine and costs. Unable to work out an agreement for payment, Keener was taken back to jail.

About noon yesterday, he succeeded in raising the money and won his release. Authorities said he was jailed because of reports he planned to move to California next weekend without settling the balance due the court.

The execution has been used on several occasions in the past to force payments from motorists who failed to live up to agreements to pay off fines in installments.

Medical Mirror
WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:
Better Health Through Knowledge

- Alcohol and Flying
- Night Cramps
- Truth Serum

Q. Cocktails served on airliners seem extra potent, or is this just my imagination?
A. It's for real. Sensitivity to alcohol increases at high altitudes because oxygen pressure is not great enough to break down the chemical alcohol-complex in the blood. In other words, more than the usual amount of alcohol stays in the circulation. Even in a pressurized cabin, you can't be sure about the changed tolerance for alcohol. A doctor recently told of an airplane passenger who became drunk and sick after talking only two drinks. The cabin had been depressurized too soon. Most of the nondrinking passengers got dizzy but for the imbiber the combination of low pressure plus alcohol was just too much.

Q. Does truth serum always work?
A. No. During the war doctors found that one physician might fail to get information from a patient regardless of the amount of "truth serum" given, while another doctor might do fine using nothing more than suggestion and no "truth serum" at all.
Q. I have terrible cramps in my legs at night. Is there any cure?
A. This is pretty common in people past middle age. Certain drugs help in many cases so consult your doctor.

Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Ignorance Now Fashionable On Quiz Shows

What with the quiz scandal and all, it's very unfashionable and just possibly criminal to know anything any more and on the newest money quiz called "Brains and Brawn," the experts hardly ever do.

John Crosby

I watched the first program where the brains were Willie Ley and Kurt Stehling, a couple of experts on rockets, although you'd never have suspected it from that program. No district attorney is ever going to ask them where they got their correct answers because they didn't have any.

Again last Saturday night, I watched Deems Taylor and Alex Templeton, who succeeded in concealing their enormous erudition in music very skillfully.

In fact, just between you and me, I think the shoe is on the other foot. I think the experts are not telling what they know. Even little old inexpert me harbored a smouldering suspicion that the mystery voice singing "Donna e Mobile" was that of Enrico Caruso.

Mystery voices singing "Donna e Mobile" are always Enrico Caruso. Any fool knows that. Templeton muttered something about Mario Lanza which is like taking the 5th Amendment.

BOTH TAYLOR and Templeton also managed to avoid pinning down an alto sax but Mr. Templeton had a right answer thrust on him almost against his will concerning who played the cadenza of a violin concerto.

Somehow, even though he managed to sidestep the right answers with real fancy footwork, Deems Taylor wound up winning $14,500.

I don't know how that's going to look to the district attorney when he gets around to investigating it.

Of course, Taylor had considerable help from a basketball player who shot baskets for thousands of dollars as his contribution to the team. If that sounds incomprehensible, all I can say is I'm sorry.

The explanation of quiz games is getting more and more incomprehensible and, the way things are going, it's just possible that in a year or so there'll only be seven people in the world who understand what they're trying to do on the latest quiz show (as there once was supposed to be only that number who understood Einstein's theory of relativity.)

"BRAINS AND BRAWN" is a replica of one of the most popular shows in France and on paper it works extremely well. One intellectual and one athlete team up, the brain winning points with his noggin while the other guy makes pitch shots as close as he can get to the pin.

On the first show, Sammy Snead and Tommy Bolt were doing just that out at Winged Foot Country Club under the excitable eyes of Jack Lescoulie who reported the epic struggle as if he had a direct line to posterity.

The camera work on these golf shots was extraordinarily good, the cameramen zeroing in on the little white ball all the way from tee to green at one point.

The second group of muscle boys, basketball players, seemed to be afflicted with the general paralysis afflicting all quiz contestants. They could hardly find the basket at all.

Actually, if you like quiz shows, "Brains and Brawn" makes a lot of sense—on paper. It's just in practice that the thing doesn't work because nobody knows anything. But no stool pigeon is ever going to pin anything on one of these contestants either.

A RATHER different attack on the problem of making the money quizzes respectable again was attempted by the granddaddy of them all, "The $64,000 Question," who, you might say, started the whole bloody mess. "The $64,000 Question" came back on the air for its fourth year, trailing kinescopes of its past shows like clouds of glory.

Jailed Driver Pays $263 To Meet Old Fine

Jailed Thursday for failure to pay a five - month - old fine for drunken driving, an East Liverpool man came up with $263 to regain his freedom — including $3 in costs for the writ under which he was arrested the second time.

He is John B. Keener, 629 River Rd., accused of failure to live up to a promise to make regular payments on a fine of $300 and $10 costs imposed May 3. Before he was jailed yesterday, Keener had paid $50—$10 on the costs and $40 on the fine.

Keener was taken before Acting Judge Robert A. Kapp yesterday morning after he was picked up on an execution issued out of Municipal Court for non-payment of the fine and costs. Unable to work out an agreement for payment, Keener was taken back to jail.

About noon yesterday, he succeeded in raising the money and won his release. Authorities said he was jailed because of reports he planned to move to California next weekend without settling the balance due the court.

The execution has been used on several occasions in the past to force payments from motorists who failed to live up to agreements to pay off fines in installments.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Better Health Through Knowledge

- Alcohol and Flying
- Night Cramps
- Truth Serum

Q. Cocktails served on airliners seem extra potent, or is this just my imagination?

A. It's for real. Sensitivity to alcohol increases at high altitudes because oxygen pressure is not great enough to break down the chemical alcohol-complex in the blood. In other words, more than the usual amount of alcohol stays in the circulation. Even in a pressurized cabin, you can't be sure about the changed tolerance for alcohol. A doctor recently told of an airplane passenger who became drunk and sick after talking only two drinks. The cabin had been depressurized too soon. Most of the nondrinking passengers got dizzy but for the imbiber the combination of low pressure plus alcohol was just too much.

Q. Does truth serum always work?

A. No. During the war doctors found that one physician might fail to get information from a patient regardless of the amount of "truth serum" given, while another doctor might do fine using nothing more than suggestion and no "truth serum" at all.

Q. I have terrible cramps in my legs at night. Is there any cure?

A. This is pretty common in people past middle age. Certain drugs help in many cases so consult your doctor.

Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.

Letters will be answered in these columns anonymously.

Booklet Outlines Legislative Program

AFL-CIO Asks Full Employment Act

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The AFL-CIO today announced a comprehensive legislative program that features recommendations for an Ohio Full Employment Act and repeal of the state sales tax.

In a 13-page booklet entitled "Common Cause" the AFL-CIO sets forth its recommendations for legislation on 13 specific topics ranging from schools to aid to the aged.

But the most unique recommendation was for a full employment act implemented with practical job-creating tools.

"These economic tools should include road building, school expansion, hospital construction, bridge and public building programs, slum clearance, development of parks and recreation areas and a host of other desperately needed public facilities," the booklet stated.

The labor legislative program also included these other recommendations.

Taxation—Repeal of the state sales tax and other state and municipal excise taxes and substitution of a state income tax patterned after the federal system.

Unemployment compensation — Immediate authorization for supplemental unemployment benefits; raise unemployment benefits to equal 75 per cent of average weekly wages; increase benefits from the present 26 weeks to 39 weeks.

Schools—Increase appropriations for more new school construction; increase teacher salaries and provide "special assistance" to colleges and universities.

Civil rights—Create a state fair employment practices commission to guard against discrimination on the basis of race, creed, color or age in employment.

Workmen's compensation—Raise basic benefits to 80 per cent of weekly wages; payment of dependency allowances; increase benefit schedules for loss of arms, hands etc. by 20 per cent; raise death benefits to dependent families to $18,000.

Aid to the aged—Financial aid to the aged should either be drastically increased from the present $65 a month maximum or eliminated entirely and each recipient of aid be judged on the basis of specific need.

Labor-management relations — Create a state department of labor with general jurisdiction over all general labor matters; enact a state labor-management act to ensure equitable handling of labor-management disputes.

Public housing—Revise the $2,400 maximum income limit for admission to public housing projects to allow additional moderate income families to occupy dwellings under jurisdiction of metropolitan housing authorities.

Farmers—Eliminate farm tenancy; improve rural fire protection; stimulate farm cooperatives; extend health facilities and expand electrification to more rural areas.

Election laws—The general assembly should make it mandatory for boards of elections to provide precinct registration facilities; voting hours should be expanded.

Public employes—Enact legislation to provide grievance procedure, mediation, and voluntary arbitration for those under civil service; permissive legislation to allow public employes to have social security.

Clerks Will Assist Disabled Electors

Following through on a new policy adopted last spring, the County Election Board will assign two assistant clerks from its staff to handle applications for disabled voters' ballots that are received from patients in hospitals and nursing homes, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said today.

The clerks will represent each of the major parties, O'Hanlon explained. When an applicant in a hospital or a nursing home receives a disabled voter's ballot, the voting will be done in their presence and notarized by the clerks.

The board adopted the new policy last spring because of the increasing demand for disabled voters' ballots, plus the fact the law forbids anyone other than those named by the Election Board to aid disabled persons in marking ballots.

Both civilian absentee and disabled voters' ballots for the Nov. 4 general election will be issued beginning Monday.

Freed From Jail

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — George Vannatter was freed from county jail Thursday after Sheriff Clyde Dericks said there is not sufficient evidence to hold him in the shooting death of his wife, Barbara, 29. Dericks declined to disclose the results of a lie detector test Wednesday. Vannatter, 30, said his wife was shot accidentally when he tried to pull a loaded shotguna away from their young son at their Pleasant Plain home.

Funeral To Be Saturday

Widow Of Sen. Robert Taft Dies Unexpectedly At 68

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Martha Bowers Taft, widow of Sen. Robert A. Taft, died Thursday at her home in suburban Indian Hill. She was 68.

Her son, state Rep. Robert Taft Jr., said death was apparently heart failure. Mrs. Taft, who always shared her husbands campaign battles, had been confined to a wheelchair since suffering a stroke in 1950. Her death, however, was unexpected.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow with burial beside her husband in an Indian Hill cemetery.

Martha Taft was a constant source of support. She made speeches and the speeches made friends.

In 1938, when Taft tried for the U. S. Senate for the first time, she startled old-line politicans by stumping Ohio for him, making speeches and arrangements in 85 of the 88 counties. One Cleveland newspaper headlined his victory "Bob and Martha Win."

She worked just as hard again in 1944 and in his unsuccessful tries for the presidential nomination. Her illness curtailed her activities, but in his last attempt—in 1952—she conducted a one-woman letter writing campaign for him.

The team of Bob and Martha didn't quite reach the White House, but that's where they met. She was the daughter of the U. S. solicitor general; he was the son of President William Howard Taft. They were married in 1914.

Besides Robert Jr., Mrs. Taft is survived by three other sons, William Howard, former ambassador to Ireland and now a State Department adviser; Lloyd, former executive vice president of the Cincinnati Times-Star—a family enterprise—before it was sold this summer, and Horace, an assistant professor of physics at Yale. There are 14 grandchildren.

'No, No, Not Live Frogs, Pickled Ones'

SANTE FE, N.M. (AP) — An express company truck pulled up to Santa Fe High School with a crate loaded with 650 live, croaking, kicking frogs.

"No! No!" said Principal Tom Walsh. "That wasn't what I ordered."

He sent the live frogs right back where they came from — North Carolina.

What he really wanted was a shipment of pickled frogs, for use in the school's biology classes.

Two Potter Regulars Will Miss Youngstown Game Tonight

Injuries Take O'Neil, Kapp From Lineup

The mounting injury problem which continues to plague Potter football coach Lou Venditti swelled to serious proportions this week and as of today had struck at least four regulars on East Liverpool's squad — resulting in a severe manpower handicap for tonight's game with Youngstown Rayen's hefty Tigers.

ELHS Band To Feature 'Space Travel' Show

Fans attending the East Liverpool-Youngstown Rayen football game tonight at Patterson Field should come prepared for "space travel." The East Liverpool High School Marching Band will present a half-time show entitled "2000 A. D.," in which the audience will be transported by "space ship" to the planet Mars. Also featured will be a precision drill routine to the tune of "76 Trombones."

Kickoff time is 7:45 (DST) at the Patterson Field.

Missing from the rapidly-thinning ranks of the Potters will be fullback Bill O'Neil and tackle Mike Kapp, who will not dress for tonight's game. Two other regulars are expected to see only spot duty with the defensive unit.

—:—

STILL nursing injuries received in the victory over New Philadelphia are halfbacks Dave Zelch, the Potters' leading ground gainer, and Dave Goodballet, who ranks second in the rushing department.

Also on the ailing list are regular guard Jim Bise, who has been having back trouble, and sophomore center Gary Montgomery, who missed drills this week with illness.

Venditti has nominated jun or Craig Burbick to fill in for the injured Kapp, while junior Henry Roach, who performed well in the Toledo game, will run at fullback in place of O'Neil.

Burbick usually handles only punting chores, but has been "looking very good" in this week's practice drills, Lou pointed out. Burbick will operate at offensive left tackle and will spell Carl Ludwig at the right tackle spot on defense. Skip Hall, 170-pound sophomore, who was one of last week's defensive standouts, will go at left tackle on defense.

Zelch, who received a severe shoulder injury in last week's battle, and Goodballet, troubled with a leg injury, are ticketed for only defensive action tonight, Venditti said.

JOE THOMPSON, 140-pound sophomore, will team with the elusive Nick Musuraca, who scored a pair of touchdowns last week, at the halfbacks, and Bob Mackail, improving with every game, will again engineer the team from his quarterback position.

Outside of Kapp, the Potter line seems in fair shape for the heavier Rayen eleven and assignments remain virtually the same. Pat Cooper and Ron Prince draw the terminal jobs, Burbick, Hall and Ludwig will go at the tackles, Charlie Davidson and Bise will man the guard spots and Joe Leigh will operate at the pivot position.

With the hard - running Zelch and Goodballet missing from the offensive component, the Potters running game figures to lack its usual punch.

However, Musuraca gave indications last week of being more than able to run against scrappy outfits and if Roach and Thompson, take up the slack, the Potters may realize their second victory of the year.

While Rayen's offensive machine appeared rather erratic in its first three games, scouting reports indicate the Tigers can move the ball well at times and have a passing game to go with the running attack.

Rayen's well - seasoned line is flanked by a pair of tall ends in Lonzel Pruitt, 6-2-inch, 187 pounds, and Alex Zenko, a 190-pounder, who stands 6 feet 4 inches. Both can catch passes adequately and are defensive standouts.

The Tigers have a record this year similar to East Liverpool's, having one win, one defeat and a scoreless tie.

First Inning Decisive In More Than One Way

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The first inning decided the second world series game in more ways than one.

The Yankees had their big chance with the bases loaded and none out. But the best the American League champions could do was one run scored on a forceout. Yogi Berra ended their hopes by hitting into a double play.

Although Lew Burdette gave up three homers, two to Mickey Mantle, he never was in serious trouble because the Braves scored seven runs in the bottom of the first, three of which came on his own home run.

So the Braves won the second game 13-5 and went two up on the Yankees.

But possibly there was a moment in that fateful first when things might have taken another turn.

Billy Bruton led off with a home run that had authority, and Red Schoendienst doubled. Bob Turley got Eddie Mathews on strikes and then ran into difficulty with Hank Aaron, after the count went to 3-2.

"They were hitting Bob's fast ball and he couldn't get his breaking ball over," Berra explained afterwards.

He got Frank Torre to fly to Elston Howard. Then he walked Del Crandall, filling the bases. Johnny Logan's single brought in two runs, and Burdette's big homer to left field added three more. That was the ball game.

The Braves kept piling up runs and the Yankees managed four more but it was never a contest.

With one out in the second, Mathews doubled and scored on Covington's single.

Mantle's homer to start the fourth made the score 8-2 but the Braves came back with two more in the seventh after Aaron hit a high chop to third for a single. Covington singled to right, and Aaron came home on Frank Torre's single. Covington scored on Crandall's sacrifice fly to center.

The Braves reached their imposing total of 13 in the eighth with Zach Monroe—the fifth Yankee pitcher—on the mound. After Burdette struck out, Bruton drew a walk, Schoendienst got a ground rule double on a drive to the right field corner, Mathews going to third, from where he scored on Andy Pafko's sacrifice fly.

The Yankees opened their half of the ninth with a loud bang, but they were too far behind to do much more than have fun.

Hank Bauer hit a long homer to the left field bleachers, and Gil McDougald singled to left. Mantle hit his second home run of the day and the 11th of his World Series career. The Braves got restless and Juan Pizarro started warming up.

But Burdette settled down again. After Norm Siebern lined a single to right, the crafty pitcher got Berra and Moose Skowron to fly out, and the game was over when Crandall grabbed Eobby Richardson's bunt close to the plate and threw him out.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Warren's top ranked Black Panthers, held to a 16-16 tie by Cleveland Cathedral Latin last week, are up against another tough foe this weekend. They face Mansfield's Tigers, winners of three in a row and ranked sixth in The Associated Press poll.

Cleveland Benedictine, the defending state champions, are idle this week awaiting next week's struggle with second-place Massillon.

Warren (1) vs Mansfield (6), Massillon (2) vs Steubenville, Cleveland Cathedral Latin (3) vs Cleveland Glenville, Alliance (4) vs Barberton (11), Cleveland Benedictine, idle; Springfield (7) vs Middletown, Elyria (8), vs Cuyahoga Falls, Toledo Libbey (9) vs Toledo Scott, Youngstown East (10) vs Youngstown Ursuline.

Tigers Thirst For Revenge In Tilt Tonight

For the first time in three years Wellsville will be playing Bellaire St. John's on seemingly even terms when the two teams meet tonight at Nicholson Stadium at 8 (EST).

Gone from last year's St. John's team which blasted Wellsville, 61-3, are most of the regulars responsible for the devastation. And to replace them is an array of sophomores and a few veterans who have not experienced victory in their first three games this season.

GRADUATION dealt a severe blow to Coach Frank Nassida last year when he lost a backfield combination that had led the Irish to victories in all but one game during the two years prior to this season.

Featuring that backfield during its two year's of conquest was Joe Maroon, a tiny, but devastating halfback who won first team All-Ohio recognition, and fullback Roger Mancini. Together they packed a one - two punch that catapulted St. John's to football prominence in the Ohio Valley.

Quarterback Dick Cruciotti earned his spurs last year as a plebe in the St. John's backfield. He is small at 135 pounds, but is rated as fast, clever and a good passer.

The other two sophomores are Ray Sauritch, 170-pound fullback, and Rich Cavicchia, 140 - pound halfback, who scored one of the St. John's touchdowns in its 21-12 loss to Pittsburgh Central last week.

Wellsville will be seeking its first victory of the season tonight and its first triumph over the Irish since 1954. The Tigers beat St. John's, 13-6, in their first engagement in 1953 and won a 19-6 decision the following year.

However, St. John's handed them a 25-0 loss in 1955, a 39-0 pasting the following year, and the 61-3 drubbing last season.

The Tiger forward wall will have slight weight advantage on the St. John's linemen and it may enable them to open holes for Bob Delposen and Jim Stevens as they did last week against the Panthers. Defense - wise, the Tigers have been fairly solid in the middle of the line all season, but have been vulnerable to the outside.

Jet Pilot Takes Risk But 'Saves' San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Before fleeing his burning Navy jet plane, Lt. (jg) Jon Parrish, 26, tried to head it away from populated areas. He was 10,000 feet above San Diego and the city looked "awfully big," he recalled.

College Football's Defense Scheduled For Stiff Tests

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Oklahoma and Army, who unveiled new, wide - open offenses that staggered opponents a week ago will be at it again Saturday.

Before all this comes about, though, Jim Tatum's winless (0-2) North Carolina Tar Heels meet Southern California tonight in Los Angeles. USC is 1-1 and a six-point favorite.

Oklahoma, No. 1 team in the country, plays defense-minded Oregon. The Webfeet had a week to work on Coach Bud Wilkinson's new offensive concepts, and enter the game ranked No. 7 in defense.

Movies of the "bazooka formation" at West Point have been distributed to all Army's opponents, except Navy, and Penn State is the first to see if it can make Coach Red Blaik sorry for his generosity. The fifth-ranked Cadets have that "lonesome end" (plays 18 yards from his tackle) that was greatly responsible for the 45-8 drubbing of South Carolina a week ago.

There will be all sorts of variations in the Cotton Bowl when Notre Dame (No. 7) meshes its running and passing attacks against Southern Methodist (No. 18) and quarterback Don Meredith's great passing arm. The Irish have fullback Nick Pietrosante back for full-time service.

Television viewers get a bit of variety too, when Washington State's ace passer Bob Newman goes against California's Joe Kapp a split-T quarterback who is rated a better runner than passer. The game is scheduled for 4:45 p.m., DST, over NBC-TV or as soon as the World Series is finished.

Third-ranked Ohio State's Buckeyes meet upset-minded Washington, a 24-21 victor over Minnesota last week. Second-ranked Auburn has more to lose than gain with its game against tiny Chattanooga as does sixth-ranked Mississippi against Trinity of Texas.

U.S. Davis Cup Hopes Pinned On Youths, Peruvian

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The United States today looks to youth, including a pair of teenagers and a Peruvian, to recapture the Davis Cup which Australia's tennis stars have held three years.

Veering away from policies of the past, the new group heading the Davis Cup campaign brought some innovations and a declaration from non-playing Capt. Perry T. Jones that "we have an excellent chance to win."

Named to the five - member squad were Earl Buchholz Jr. of St. Louis, Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif., Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, Hamilton Richardson of Washington, D.C., and Alex Olmedo of Peru, a student at the University of South California.

The other two sophomores are Ray Sauritch, 170-pound fullback, and Rich Cavicchia, 140 - pound halfback, who scored one of the St. John's touchdowns in its 21-12 loss to Pittsburgh Central last week.

Wellsville will be seeking its first victory of the season tonight and its first triumph over the Irish since 1954. The Tigers beat St. John's, 13-6, in their first engagement in 1953 and won a 19-6 decision the following year.

However, St. John's handed them a 25-0 loss in 1955, a 39-0 pasting the following year, and the 61-3 drubbing last season.

Wellsville showed marked improvement in its 6-6 tie with Chester last week.

The Tiger forward wall will have slight weight advantage on the St. John's linemen and it may enable them to open holes for Bob Delposen and Jim Stevens as they did last week against the Panthers. Defense - wise, the Tigers have been fairly solid in the middle of the line all season, but have been vulnerable to the outside.

Tall Dave Nardo, 185 - pound terminal and holdover from last year, has been Cruciotti's chief target on passes. Ronnie Moran, 138-pound senior letterman, is at the other end.

Jet Pilot Takes Risk But 'Saves' San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Before fleeing his burning Navy jet plane, Lt. (jg) Jon Parrish, 26, tried to head it away from populated areas. He was 10,000 feet above San Diego and the city looked "awfully big," he recalled.

College Football's Defense Scheduled For Stiff Tests

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Oklahoma and Army, who unveiled new, wide - open offenses that staggered opponents a week ago will be at it again Saturday.

Before all this comes about, though, Jim Tatum's winless (0-2) North Carolina Tar Heels meet Southern California tonight in Los Angeles. USC is 1-1 and a six-point favorite.

Oklahoma, No. 1 team in the country, plays defense-minded Oregon. The Webfeet had a week to work on Coach Bud Wilkinson's new offensive concepts, and enter the game ranked No. 7 in defense.

Movies of the "bazooka formation" at West Point have been distributed to all Army's opponents, except Navy, and Penn State is the first to see if it can make Coach Red Blaik sorry for his generosity. The fifth-ranked Cadets have that "lonesome end" (plays 18 yards from his tackle) that was greatly responsible for the 45-8 drubbing of South Carolina a week ago.

There will be all sorts of variations in the Cotton Bowl when Notre Dame (No. 7) meshes its running and passing attacks against Southern Methodist (No. 18) and quarterback Don Meredith's great passing arm. The Irish have fullback Nick Pietrosante back for full-time service.

Fireworks aplenty are planned at Michigan State, when the fourth-ranked Spartans use their multiple offense against neighbor and bitter rival Michigan in the Big Ten's top game.

Television viewers get a bit of variety too, when Washington State's ace passer Bob Newman goes against California's Joe Kapp a split-T quarterback who is rated a better runner than passer. The game is scheduled for 4:45 p.m., DST, over NBC-TV or as soon as the World Series is finished.

Third-ranked Ohio State's Buckeyes meet upset-minded Washington, a 24-21 victor over Minnesota last week. Second-ranked Auburn has more to lose than gain with its game against tiny Chattanooga as does sixth-ranked Mississippi against Trinity of Texas.

Iowa (No. 8) ushers the Air Force Academy into competition with the Big Ten, Wisconsin (No. 9) tests Marquette's one-game winning streak after it lost 19 in a row, and 10th-ranked Clemson plays Maryland in an Atlantic Coast Conference game.

U.S. Davis Cup Hopes Pinned On Youths, Peruvian

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The United States today looks to youth, including a pair of teenagers and a Peruvian, to recapture the Davis Cup which Australia's tennis stars have held three years.

Veering away from policies of the past, the new group heading the Davis Cup campaign brought some innovations and a declaration from non-playing Capt. Perry T. Jones that "we have an excellent chance to win."

Named to the five - member squad were Earl Buchholz Jr. of St. Louis, Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif., Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, Hamilton Richardson of Washington, D.C., and Alex Olmedo of Peru, a student at the University of South California.

Braves 2-Up On Yankees In World Series After 13-5 Rout

Lew Burdette Still Master Of Bombers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Two up and two to go. But there is not a Milwaukee Brave who thinks it will be easy.

Two down and four to go. But there is not a New York Yankee who thinks the situation is desperate.

That was the World Series picture today as the Braves and Yankees took a 24-hour breather after Lew Burdette's 13-5 conquest of the American League champions that gave Milwaukee a 2-0 edge in the series.

Despite their crushing defeat, matching the worst beating they had ever absorbed in series competition, the Yankees were confident they could turn the tables on the Braves, winning at least two out of the three in Yankee Stadium.

Manager Fred Haney said his starting pitcher will be either Bob Rush or Juan Pizarro.

The guess here is that the third game pitcher will be Rush. The big right-hander gets the call over the young left-hander because of his greater experience. Rush had a 10-6 record during the season. Larsen was 9-6. The Yankees are 7-5 favorites.

"Sure, we're not in what I would call a rosy position," he said, "but this thing is not over by a long shot. Why, only two years ago, we lost the first two to Brooklyn. I seem to remember that we won it at the end, didn't we? There's no law that says we can't do it again. You just never know about those things until they happen. Then you know.

"Somebody ought to tell those guys not to get too cocky just because they beat us a couple of times. This club of mine has a way of coming back. I know we haven't looked so good but we might get to 'em pretty quick."

Stengel better not bank on the Braves becoming too cocky. Haney spoke for all of his players when he said: "It's far from over. All I'm looking forward to is Saturday's ball game. We'll play them one at a time. All right, so we're two in front. That's two they can't win. But you can't become chesty. They can come back and pin our ears back. You just got to play 'em one at a time."

Warren Spahn, who probably will pitch the fourth game Sunday, said he figured it will take six games for the Braves to repeat last year's triumph.

"These Yankees are tough," he said.

He had a three-hitter and had retired 15 men in a row going into the last inning. Four straight hits, including home runs by Hank Bauer and Mickey Mantle, put him in real trouble for the only time since the first inning when the Yanks scored first and had the bases loaded before the first double play of the series pulled him out of it.

Lew left the field as the first pitcher in 21 years to win four straight from the same team in World Series competition. Lefty Gomez, a Yankee great, did it back in 1936-37 against the New York Giants but he had relief help in one game, while Burdette's have all been complete jobs.

Burdette himself homered in the last half of the first to cap a record seven-run inning by the Braves that all but wrapped it up. He was the fifth pitcher to homer in a World Series and the first since Bucky Walters did it for Cincinnati against Detroit in 1940. Elston Howard, playing left field for the Yanks, crashed into the fence in a vain effort to pull down Burdette's poke. Examination showed he probably will be sidelined Saturday.

Howard's replacement, Norm Siebern, got one of the seven hits off Burdette, who walked one and struck out five. Bauer had two hits and Mantle two. Mantle has now hit 11 homers in series play, second only to Babe Ruth's 15.

$4 Million At Gate Grossed By Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Dodgers may have played like a bunch of clowns at times this season, but nobody's laughing at them at the bank.

One estimate—admittedly unofficial—is that the club grossed more than four million dollars during its first year in Los Angeles.

Laughs Off 'Secret Weapon'

Pitched 'Em Same As Last Year, Burdette Declares

By CHUCK CAPALDO
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) —"I pitched the same way against them as last year. Why should I change?"

The speaker was the Milwaukee Braves' Lew Burdette and he was referring, of course, to his continued World Series mastery over the New York Yankees.

As they say in the West Virginia mining country where Burdette comes from, he whupped 'em for fair Thursday for the fourth consecutive time as Milwaukee won 13-5.

Only Left Gomez ever beat the same team four straight in World Series competition. He did it for the Yankees against the Giants in 1936-37.

Burdette laughs off suggestions that perhaps he has been using a secret weapon on the Yankees.

"I honestly don't know why I can beat them, or how for that matter," he said. "There's no reason that I know of."

He might have pointed out that the Yankees just don't seem to be able to cope with his assortment of breaking pitches—screwballs, sinkers and sliders — especially when he keeps them low.

The 31-year-old right-hander also might have mentioned his sharp control. He issued only one base on balls, an intentional one to Mickey Mantle in the first inning.

He preferred to dwell on the three-run homer he hit in the Braves' seven-run first inning, the Yankees' ninth-inning uprising and "the room."

Burdette denied that he let up in the ninth when Casey Stengel's athletes clipped him for four of their seven hits and three of their runs.

"I didn't let up intentionally, at any rate," he said. "I was just throwing strikes to get them out. Made 'em too good, I guess. Then I figured I better get them out. Things were getting rather binding out there."

Rush And Larsen Likely Pitchers For Saturday

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Manager Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves is a relatively quiet little strategist who seems to be getting a devilish delight in keeping Saturday's pitcher a secret.

But if it's not Bob Rush, the former hard luck right-hander of the Chicago Cubs who was 10-6 for the Braves this season, there will be a few raised eyebrows.

With a twinkle in his eye, Haney has maintained a strict silence on his choice, avoiding all searching queries from newsmen as he departed Thursday night for New York.

Haney also will not be trapped in saying anything detrimental about the Yankees. He is a great admirer and friend of Stengel's and this he respects on and off the field.

"You always look good when you are hitting and pitching," he said quietly. "It's far from over. They're tough and it's going to be a rugged series.

"Lew Burdette was just great out there for us. It was natural for him to let up in the 9th when he gave up 4 of his 7 hits. But by then we had about as many runs as we've had all season."

Orioles Get Carrasquel, Send Williams To A's

The Baltimore skipper announced Thursday night he had traded Dick Williams to Kansas City for Chico Carrasquel.

Williams hit .279 in 136 games for the Orioles this year while playing all outfield positions, first and third base. Carrasquel, traded to Kansas City by Cleveland last spring, hit .234 while handling shortstop and third base chores. With almost 100 fewer times at bat than Williams, he drove in 34 runs, compared with Dick's 32.

Directed by Theodore C. Koenig, the Tiger band will parade through downtown Kent at 10 a. m. The bandsmen will be served a box lunch following the parade.

The combined bands along with those of Kent State and Ohio U. will present the pre - game ceremonies prior to the kickoff at 2 p. m.

Lew's Homer His First In Park At Home

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Lew Burdette found the home run range in Thursday's second game of the World Series, it was his first round-tripper in Milwaukee's County Stadium. Burdette had hit five homers previously, but all had been on the road. Three were at the Los Angeles Coliseum this season and two at Cincinnati's Crosley Field in 1957.

Red Schoendienst, Murry Dickson and Enos Slaughter appeared in the same game to stir up some memories of the 1946 series. All three were members of the world champion St. Louis Cards that year.

The New York Yankees were the last previous team to score seven runs in an inning in series competition. They achieved the feat in the sixth inning of the first game of the 1937 series against the New York Giants enroute to an 8-1 victory.

Don Larsen, studying the Braves batsmen from the bench, was asked if he had learned anything about Milwaukee. "Nothing I didn't already know," replied the big right-hander, who pitches the third game for New York Saturday.

The left side of the Yanks' infield is having its troubles at bat. Shortstop Tony Kubek has gone hitless in seven at bats, third baseman Andy Carey has failed to hit in six trips and reserves Bob Richardson and Jerry Lumpe are each 0-for-1. That combined output comes to an inglorious 15 at bats without a hit.

The slugging Braves are hitting .329 as a team for the two games. The highest batting average for a team in a four-game series was .313, set by the Yanks against the Chicago Cubs in 1932.

Bleachers Ready For South Side

Dad's Night will be held for fathers of the players. Coach Dave Nichol planned the program and the team will wear new uniforms purchased this year.

The South Side Citizens Association will be in charge of refreshment stands during home games.

The new bleachers were designed by Eugene Lombard and John Herron was construction superintendent. The overall project of playing field, bleachers, track and baseball diamond is being sponsored by the citizens association. The football field was graded and seeded last year.

The association will elect officers when it meets Wednesday, Oct. 15, at 8 p. m. at the high school cafeteria.

Tony Anthony Faces McBride In TV Bout

The televised fight (NBC 10 p.m. DST) is scheduled for 10 rounds.

He won 34 of his 40 bouts before tangling with McBride, 29 and from Trenton, N.J. McBride has fought most of the ranking heavyweights including champion Floyd Patterson. He has 21 victories in 35 bouts.

Jules Reichel has been an athletic trainer at Syracuse University since 1931.

Braves More Confident Now Than In '57 Series

MILWAUKEE (AP) —The Milwaukee Braves bade farewell to their home base even more confident than last year they could clinch the World Series' championship in New York.

Last year, the series stood 3-2 for the Braves when the series moved back to New York where the Braves won the decisive seventh game for the title.

This time, the Braves' terrific momentum after the opening two series' games at home, seemed to indicate a four-game Milwaukee sweep. Theoretically, the series could end up back in Milwaukee with games Nos. 6 and 7 next Wednesday and Thursday.

The cautious, but confident air in the Braves' camp and the funeral atmosphere in the Yankee dressing room after Thursday's 13-5 Milwaukee triumph hinted strongly that the Yankees are dead.

Lew Burdette, who added another chapter of personal insult to the once-proud Yankees Thursday, best summarized the growing National League disdain of the American League's best with this remark:

"I'd like to see the Yankees in the National League and see where they would finish. They're no tougher than a couple of clubs in our league."

After the Braves racked up their 7-run first and clobbered five Yankee pitchers for 15 hits Thursday, the venerable Yankee pilot, Casey Stengel commented:

"There was nothing wrong in the opener but our hitting. There was nothing wrong this time but our hitting."

But Stengel's two first line hurlers — Whitey Ford and Bob Turley, not to mention fast-balling reliefer, Ryne Duren — have tried and failed against the poised and confident Braves.

For the record, the Braves politely declined to rub it in on the Yankees. Both Manager Fred Haney and Burdette declined to predict the probable outcome of the series.

Still the quietest guy in the Braves' wigwam and the biggest thorn in the Yankees' side was Billy Bruton, the man who was a hospital case in last year's series.

Reporters had to pry comment from Bruton, who continued in a hero's role Thursday. Burton, who slammed the winning hit in Wednesday's 4-3, 10-inning triumph over the Yanks, banged a homer and two singles in four official trips Thursday.

"I like this World Series competition," smiled Bruton. "I'm just swinging up there, but things are happening. And they couldn't be happening at a better time."

Braves 2-Up On Yankees In World Series After 13-5 Rout

Lew Burdette Still Master Of Bombers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Two up and two to go. But there is not a Milwaukee Brave who thinks it will be easy.

Two down and four to go. But there is not a New York Yankee who thinks the situation is desperate.

That was the World Series picture today as the Braves and Yankees took a 24-hour breather after Lew Burdette's 13-5 conquest of the American League champions that gave Milwaukee a 2-0 edge in the series.

Despite their crushing defeat, matching the worst beating they had ever absorbed in series competition, the Yankees were confident they could turn the tables on the Braves, winning at least two out of the three in Yankee Stadium.

Manager Fred Haney said his starting pitcher will be either Bob Rush or Juan Pizarro.

The guess here is that the third game pitcher will be Rush. The big right-hander gets the call over the young left-hander because of his greater experience. Rush had a 10-6 record during the season. Larsen was 9-6. The Yankees are 7-5 favorites.

The series odds, which now favor Milwaukee at 11-5, failed to dampen Stengel's faith.

"Sure, we're not in what I would call a rosy position," he said, "but this thing is not over by a long shot. Why, only two years ago, we lost the first two to Brooklyn. I seem to remember that we won it at the end, didn't we? There's no law that says we can't do it again. You just never know about those things until they happen. Then you know.

"Somebody ought to tell those guys not to get too cocky just because they beat us a couple of times. This club of mine has a way of coming back. I know we haven't looked so good but we might get to 'em pretty quick."

Stengel better not bank on the Braves becoming too cocky. Haney spoke for all of his players when he said: "It's far from over. All I'm looking forward to is Saturday's ball game. We'll play them one at a time. All right, so we're two in front. That's two they can't win. But you can't become chesty. They can come back and pin our ears back. You just got to play 'em one at a time."

Warren Spahn, who probably will pitch the fourth game Sunday, said he figured it will take six games for the Braves to repeat last year's triumph.

"These Yankees are tough," he said.

He had a three-hitter and had retired 15 men in a row going into the last inning. Four straight hits, including home runs by Hank Bauer and Mickey Mantle, put him in real trouble for the only time since the first inning when the Yanks scored first and had the bases loaded before the first double play of the series pulled him out of it.

But Burdette dug up a little something extra in the ninth and three straight putouts followed the four hits.

Lew left the field as the first pitcher in 21 years to win four straight from the same team in World Series competition. Lefty Gomez, a Yankee great, did it back in 1936-37 against the New York Giants but he had relief help in one game, while Burdette's have all been complete jobs.

Burdette himself homered in the last half of the first to cap a record seven-run inning by the Braves that all but wrapped it up. He was the fifth pitcher to homer in a World Series and the first since Bucky Walters did it for Cincinnati against Detroit in 1940. Elston Howard, playing left field for the Yanks, crashed into the fence in a vain effort to pull down Burdette's poke. Examination showed he probably will be sidelined Saturday.

Howard's replacement, Norm Siebern, got one of the seven hits off Burdette, who walked one and struck out five. Bauer had two hits and Mantle two. Mantle has now hit 11 homers in series play, second only to Babe Ruth's 15.

$4 Million At Gate Grossed By Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Dodgers may have played like a bunch of clowns at times this season, but nobody's laughing at them at the bank.

One estimate—admittedly unofficial—is that the club grossed more than four million dollars during its first year in Los Angeles.

Laughs Off 'Secret Weapon'

Pitched 'Em Same As Last Year, Burdette Declares

By CHUCK CAPALDO
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) —"I pitched the same way against them as last year. Why should I change?"

The speaker was the Milwaukee Braves' Lew Burdette and he was referring, of course, to his continued World Series mastery over the New York Yankees.

As they say in the West Virginia mining country where Burdette comes from, he whupped 'em for fair Thursday for the fourth consecutive time as Milwaukee won 13-5.

Only Left Gomez ever beat the same team four straight in World Series competition. He did it for the Yankees against the Giants in 1936-37.

Burdette laughs off suggestions that perhaps he has been using a secret weapon on the Yankees.

"I honestly don't know why I can beat them, or how for that matter," he said. "There's no reason that I know of."

He might have pointed out that the Yankees just don't seem to be able to cope with his assortment of breaking pitches—screwballs, sinkers and sliders — especially when he keeps them low.

The 31-year-old right-hander also might have mentioned his sharp control. He issued only one base on balls, an intentional one to Mickey Mantle in the first inning.

He preferred to dwell on the three-run homer he hit in the Braves' seven-run first inning, the Yankees' ninth-inning uprising and "the room."

Burdette denied that he let up in the ninth when Casey Stengel's athletes clipped him for four of their seven hits and three of their runs.

"I didn't let up intentionally, at any rate," he said. "I was just throwing strikes to get them out. Made 'em too good, I guess. Then I figured I better get them out. Things were getting rather binding out there."

Rush And Larsen Likely Pitchers For Saturday

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Manager Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves is a relatively quiet little strategist who seems to be getting a devilish delight in keeping Saturday's pitcher a secret.

But if it's not Bob Rush, the former hard luck right-hander of the Chicago Cubs who was 10-6 for the Braves this season, there will be a few raised eyebrows.

Casey Stengel already has named Don Larsen to try to retrieve Yankee prestige in the third game after New York dropped the first two.

With a twinkle in his eye, Haney has maintained a strict silence on his choice, avoiding all searching queries from newsmen as he departed Thursday night for New York.

"I'll make it official after our workout Friday afternoon," he said.

Haney also will not be trapped in saying anything detrimental about the Yankees. He is a great admirer and friend of Stengel's and this he respects on and off the field.

"You always look good when you are hitting and pitching," he said quietly. "It's far from over. They're tough and it's going to be a rugged series.

"Lew Burdette was just great out there for us. It was natural for him to let up in the 9th when he gave up 4 of his 7 hits. But by then we had about as many runs as we've had all season."

Orioles Get Carrasquel, Send Williams To A's

The Baltimore skipper announced Thursday night he had traded Dick Williams to Kansas City for Chico Carrasquel.

Williams hit .279 in 136 games for the Orioles this year while playing all outfield positions, first and third base. Carrasquel, traded to Kansas City by Cleveland last spring, hit .234 while handling shortstop and third base chores. With almost 100 fewer times at bat than Williams, he drove in 34 runs, compared with Dick's 32.

Lew's Homer His First In Park At Home

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Lew Burdette found the home run range in Thursday's second game of the World Series, it was his first round-tripper in Milwaukee's County Stadium. Burdette had hit five homers previously, but all had been on the road. Three were at the Los Angeles Coliseum this season and two at Cincinnati's Crosley Field in 1957.

Red Schoendienst, Murry Dickson and Enos Slaughter appeared in the same game to stir up some memories of the 1946 series. All three were members of the world champion St. Louis Cards that year.

The New York Yankees were the last previous team to score seven runs in an inning in series competition. They achieved the feat in the sixth inning of the first game of the 1937 series against the New York Giants enroute to an 8-1 victory.

Don Larsen, studying the Braves batsmen from the bench, was asked if he had learned anything about Milwaukee. "Nothing I didn't already know," replied the big right-hander, who pitches the third game for New York Saturday.

The left side of the Yanks' infield is having its troubles at bat. Shortstop Tony Kubek has gone hitless in seven at bats, third baseman Andy Carey has failed to hit in six trips and reserves Bob Richardson and Jerry Lumpe are each 0-for-1. That combined output comes to an inglorious 15 at bats without a hit.

Hitting two homers in a game is nothing new for Mantle. The Yanks' switcher turned the trick three others times in 1958.

The slugging Braves are hitting .329 as a team for the two games. The highest batting average for a team in a four-game series was .313, set by the Yanks against the Chicago Cubs in 1932.

Bleachers Ready For South Side

Dad's Night will be held for fathers of the players. Coach Dave Nichol planned the program and the team will wear new uniforms purchased this year.

The South Side Citizens Association will be in charge of refreshment stands during home games.

The Hookstown Grange has voted to let the school use its portable bleachers for visitors during the season.

The new bleachers were designed by Eugene Lombard and John Herron was construction superintendent. The overall project of playing field, bleachers, track and baseball diamond is being sponsored by the citizens association. The football field was graded and seeded last year.

The association will elect officers when it meets Wednesday, Oct. 15, at 8 p. m. at the high school cafeteria.

Tony Anthony Faces McBride In TV Bout

The televised fight (NBC 10 p.m. DST) is scheduled for 10 rounds.

He won 34 of his 40 bouts before tangling with McBride, 29 and from Trenton, N.J. McBride has fought most of the ranking heavyweights including champion Floyd Patterson. He has 21 victories in 35 bouts.

Jules Reichel has been an athletic trainer at Syracuse University since 1931.

Braves More Confident Now Than In '57 Series

MILWAUKEE (AP) —The Milwaukee Braves bade farewell to their home base even more confident than last year they could clinch the World Series' championship in New York.

Last year, the series stood 3-2 for the Braves when the series moved back to New York where the Braves won the decisive seventh game for the title.

This time, the Braves' terrific momentum after the opening two series' games at home, seemed to indicate a four-game Milwaukee sweep. Theoretically, the series could end up back in Milwaukee with games Nos. 6 and 7 next Wednesday and Thursday.

The cautious, but confident air in the Braves' camp and the funeral atmosphere in the Yankee dressing room after Thursday's 13-5 Milwaukee triumph hinted strongly that the Yankees are dead.

Lew Burdette, who added another chapter of personal insult to the once-proud Yankees Thursday, best summarized the growing National League disdain of the American League's best with this remark:

"I'd like to see the Yankees in the National League and see where they would finish. They're no tougher than a couple of clubs in our league."

After the Braves racked up their 7-run first and clobbered five Yankee pitchers for 15 hits Thursday, the venerable Yankee pilot, Casey Stengel commented:

"There was nothing wrong in the opener but our hitting. There was nothing wrong this time but our hitting."

But Stengel's two first line hurlers — Whitey Ford and Bob Turley, not to mention fast-balling reliefer, Ryne Duren — have tried and failed against the poised and confident Braves.

For the record, the Braves politely declined to rub it in on the Yankees. Both Manager Fred Haney and Burdette declined to predict the probable outcome of the series.

Still the quietest guy in the Braves' wigwam and the biggest thorn in the Yankees' side was Billy Bruton, the man who was a hospital case in last year's series.

Reporters had to pry comment from Bruton, who continued in a hero's role Thursday. Burton, who slammed the winning hit in Wednesday's 4-3, 10-inning triumph over the Yanks, banged a homer and two singles in four official trips Thursday.

"I like this World Series competition," smiled Bruton. "I'm just swinging up there, but things are happening. And they couldn't be happening at a better time."

Farmer Fined In Gun Threat

Dispute Over Land Has Climax In Court

Accused of using a shotgun to menace a Klondyke man in an argument over right-of-way across his land, a Liverpool Township man was fined $50 and costs today in Municipal Court and his son was fined $10 on an assault charge.

The charges against Casemer Banicki of the Smith Dairy Rd. and his son, Edward Banicki, were filed by Wallace B. Latta, 1848 Michigan Ave.

Latta testified the Banicki farm is in a rural area 1.3 miles from the Neville School and he uses a road through it to gain access to a garden plot he has used for the last 26 years. He said when he headed for his garden in a car Sept. 25, he found the road across Banicki's property had been barred by a felled locust tree.

Latta said the argument with the elder Banicki started when he took a saw from his auto to clear the tree from the road. He said Banicki went to his home and obtained a double-barreled shotgun, which he thrust into the Klondyke man's stomach. Latta said the younger Banicki "grabbed" him and he struck the man with the saw.

Latta testified the deed to the garden plot — owned by another man — provides for a right-of-way across the Banicki property. Banicki admitted thrusting the muzzle of the shotgun against Latta, but he said it was unloaded. He said bad feeling arose between Latta and the Banickis because Banicki wanted Latta to help take care of a drainage problem on the road.

The elder Banicki was charged with "intentionally and without malice pointing a shotgun" at Latta. His son was charged with assaulting and threatening Latta. Both pleaded not guilty. Warrants were served on the father and son Thursday by Wilbert Taylor and Clifford Owens, Liverpool Township constables.

Parker Fears Browns' Trio

"Explosive all the way," Parker adds. "They can break a game wide open with their running. If we can contain these three, we could pull off a victory Sunday."

The undefeated Browns and the once-beaten Steelers meet here Sunday in the second week of play of the National Football League.

"Mitchell, fast as lightning, quick.

"Brown, big, but you can catch him.

"Bolden, an open-type runner who is hard to get a hold of."

Bob Mitchell of Denver, Colo., is a 6-foot, 180-pound halfback who came to the Browns this year from the University of Illinois. He starred in the College All Stars upset victory over the Detroit Lions.

Student Gets Horse, Buggy When University Bans Cars

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Like many another Princeton University undergraduate, Eric A. Grinnell found his social life in low gear because of the university's rule against cars.

Grinnell, the great-grandson of a Springfield, Ohio, carriage builder, bought a buggy—a "Brewster brougham"—for $100. The green and black closed surrey was bnilt in 1878, and originally sold for $2,000.

The 19 - year - old coachmen's total investment, counting renovating charges and stable fees, will come to about $900. He plans to buy his own horse when he can afford it.

As for his use of the rig, Grinnell has more than collegiate horseplay in mind. He plans to earn hay money by carting couples around the campus and the town on party weekends at $3 for half an hour, and $5 a full hour.

The university, which has denied undergraduates the use of motor vehicles for three decades, gave Grinnell permission to drive the rig when he offered to use it for publicity purposes at football games.

"They were in a state of shock," he admits.

But later, he says, his mother fell in love with the thing because it's so beautiful, and his father thought it might be good experience.

Cmdr. Smoot Sees Cargo In Winter Making Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The American commander for the Formosa area declared today Quemoy can be supplied through the worst of the winter despite the Communist bombardment.

Some military observers had expressed fear that bad winter weather and high seas in Formosa Strait would stop Nationalist supply convoys. However, the United States is now giving the Nationalists larger landing ships that can operate all winter and larger planes for aerial delivery of supplies.

Cost Of Wood Nickels Increased To 7 Cents

MONTCLAIR, N.J. (AP) — The cost of wooden nickels has gone up to 7 cents.

The local Chamber of Commerce has been selling 5-cent pieces made of pine wood to merchants. They will be handed out free to customers after Oct. 16 as part of a promotion scheme.

The nickels are worth a nickel each to the customers. But what with the cost of pine wood and handling, merchants have been paying $7 for a hundred of the tokens.

Dedication Scheduled Of Mental Building

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP) — A 120-bed reception and intensive treatment facility, the first building to be completed under the mental hygiene building program, will be dedicated next Thursday.

The $884,000 structure was built with funds from the 150-million-dollar bond issue approved by voters several years ago.

4 Youths Penalized

LISBON — Four youths from Irondale R. D. 1, found guilty of stealing gasoline from a county road grader parked near a Salineville project, were fined and given 30-day suspensions of their driving permits by Judge Louis Tobin Thursday. They were ordered to obey a 9 p. m. curfew. Juvenile Officer Chris Pusey cited them to Juvenile Court. Two are 16 and two 17.

Big Users To Pay Added Expense To Gas Concern

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—From now on big customers of the Portsmouth Gas Co. who cause the company added expense will have to pay for it, the Utilities Commission decided.

The company has about 30 big customers who have to switch from gas to oil when the temperature tumbles to 20 degrees or lower. In most of the cases a thermostat does the switching.

But in about six cases the switch has to be made manually. Some of these six, the company complained, keep on using gas.

Reason for switching to oil is to make sure the company has enough gas for everyone when it gets very cold.

The company claimed that when all of the 30 customers don't switch to oil, it costs the company money because it has to pay more for gas from its wholesale source.

The company asked and received permission to pass on the additional cost to customers who don't switch to oil when they should.

Burglars Had Cinch In Robbing This Safe

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a cinch for burglars to get $2,300 from an advertising company's safe Thursday night.

The company, like many others, did this so its safe would not be ruined if burglars dropped in, police said.

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Like many another Princeton University undergraduate, Eric A. Grinnell found his social life in low gear because of the university's rule against cars.

So, he got a horse.

Grinnell, the great-grandson of a Springfield, Ohio, carriage builder, bought a buggy—a "Brewster brougham"—for $100. The green and black closed surrey was bnilt in 1878, and originally sold for $2,000.

The 19 - year - old coachmen's total investment, counting renovating charges and stable fees, will come to about $900. He plans to buy his own horse when he can afford it.

As for his use of the rig, Grinnell has more than collegiate horseplay in mind. He plans to earn hay money by carting couples around the campus and the town on party weekends at $3 for half an hour, and $5 a full hour.

The university, which has denied undergraduates the use of motor vehicles for three decades, gave Grinnell permission to drive the rig when he offered to use it for publicity purposes at football games.

"They were in a state of shock," he admits.

But later, he says, his mother fell in love with the thing because it's so beautiful, and his father thought it might be good experience.

Big Users To Pay Added Expense To Gas Concern

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—From now on big customers of the Portsmouth Gas Co. who cause the company added expense will have to pay for it, the Utilities Commission decided.

The company has about 30 big customers who have to switch from gas to oil when the temperature tumbles to 20 degrees or lower. In most of the cases a thermostat does the switching.

But in about six cases the switch has to be made manually. Some of these six, the company complained, keep on using gas.

Reason for switching to oil is to make sure the company has enough gas for everyone when it gets very cold.

The company claimed that when all of the 30 customers don't switch to oil, it costs the company money because it has to pay more for gas from its wholesale source.

The company asked and received permission to pass on the additional cost to customers who don't switch to oil when they should.

Burglars Had Cinch In Robbing This Safe

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a cinch for burglars to get $2,300 from an advertising company's safe Thursday night.

The company, like many others, did this so its safe would not be ruined if burglars dropped in, police said.

Parker Fears Browns' Trio

"Explosive all the way," Parker adds. "They can break a game wide open with their running. If we can contain these three, we could pull off a victory Sunday."

The undefeated Browns and the once-beaten Steelers meet here Sunday in the second week of play of the National Football League.

"Terrific runners," Parker calls the three, adding:

"Mitchell, fast as lightning, quick.

"Brown, big, but you can catch him.

Bob Mitchell of Denver, Colo., is a 6-foot, 180-pound halfback who came to the Browns this year from the University of Illinois. He starred in the College All Stars upset victory over the Detroit Lions.

Cmdr. Smoot Sees Cargo In Winter Making Quemoy

Vice Adm. Roland N. Smoot said the Chinese Nationalists on the offshore islands can hold out indefinitely under present conditions.

Some military observers had expressed fear that bad winter weather and high seas in Formosa Strait would stop Nationalist supply convoys. However, the United States is now giving the Nationalists larger landing ships that can operate all winter and larger planes for aerial delivery of supplies.

MONTCLAIR, N.J. (AP) — The cost of wooden nickels has gone up to 7 cents.

The local Chamber of Commerce has been selling 5-cent pieces made of pine wood to merchants. They will be handed out free to customers after Oct. 16 as part of a promotion scheme.

The nickels are worth a nickel each to the customers. But what with the cost of pine wood and handling, merchants have been paying $7 for a hundred of the tokens.

Teacher's Report Shows Child Needs Help

An Illinois mother received the following report about her young son from his kindergarten teacher: "1. — He is not a leader in a group. "2.— He does not speak in a clear, pleasing voice. I cannot always understand him. "3. — He is not creative. "4. — He does not talk or share experiences when it's time to have a talk with teacher — called talk-time."

By Garry Meyers

IF YOU were the mother of this child, what would you suppose the teacher expected you to do about these matters? What would you do?

Would you have a talk with your child, telling him he should be a leader in his group, that he should speak at school in a more pleasing voice and speak plainly so the teacher could understand him?

Would you tell him he should talk to his teacher at talk-time? Would you tell him he must be creative at school?

Maybe you would go to the teacher and ask her just what you should do to supply all these lacks in your little child. If you did so, I wonder what she would tell you.

WOULD SHE give the impression that you could settle all these matters in a day or so? Would she tell you anything good about your child that you could build on? Or would she make you feel a miserable failure as a mother?

Perhaps you find, contrary to a teacher's report, that your child talks very freely and distinctly at home. Maybe it has not occurred to the teacher that this lad feels very timid and shy among other children at school, and that she herself might find ways to help him to feel more comfortable.

Any child may mumble his words and speak indistinctly when he feels very self - conscious.

Would you expect your child to be leader of his group? Or would you just be glad if he seemed to mingle happily with other children of his age?

JUST WHAT does the teacher's statement that your child is not creative mean to you?

At home, you could safely encourage this child to draw pictures of anything he sees or imagines, to build with blocks, to play at pretending and to make up fanciful yarns. Certainly you could fire his imagination by reading to him.

But you certainly shouldn't look for miracles. It might take weeks, months or even years to see marked results.

My bulletins, "Your Child And His Playmates" and "Letting Baby and Tot Learn," may be had by sending a self - address. stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

College To Get Bells

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Wilmington College, a Quaker school, is going to get a 36-bell carillon from the Roman Catholic exhibit by the Vatican at the Brussels World Fair. The college announced Thursday that Mrs. Bessie Goodman, former Wilmington resident, is giving the bells to the school. A 50-foot tower will be built to house them.

Teacher's Report Shows Child Needs Help

An Illinois mother received the following report about her young son from his kindergarten teacher: "1. — He is not a leader in a group. "2.— He does not speak in a clear, pleasing voice. I cannot always understand him. "3. — He is not creative. "4. — He does not talk or share experiences when it's time to have a talk with teacher — called talk-time."

By Garry Meyers

IF YOU were the mother of this child, what would you suppose the teacher expected you to do about these matters? What would you do?

Would you have a talk with your child, telling him he should be a leader in his group, that he should speak at school in a more pleasing voice and speak plainly so the teacher could understand him?

You know that such exhortations would be meaningless and futile to a child.

Maybe you would go to the teacher and ask her just what you should do to supply all these lacks in your little child. If you did so, I wonder what she would tell you.

WOULD SHE give the impression that you could settle all these matters in a day or so? Would she tell you anything good about your child that you could build on? Or would she make you feel a miserable failure as a mother?

Perhaps you find, contrary to a teacher's report, that your child talks very freely and distinctly at home. Maybe it has not occurred to the teacher that this lad feels very timid and shy among other children at school, and that she herself might find ways to help him to feel more comfortable.

Any child may mumble his words and speak indistinctly when he feels very self - conscious.

Anyway, as the child's mother, you should try to find ways to help this child have more fun with other children of his own age.

Would you expect your child to be leader of his group? Or would you just be glad if he seemed to mingle happily with other children of his age?

JUST WHAT does the teacher's statement that your child is not creative mean to you?

At home, you could safely encourage this child to draw pictures of anything he sees or imagines, to build with blocks, to play at pretending and to make up fanciful yarns. Certainly you could fire his imagination by reading to him.

But you certainly shouldn't look for miracles. It might take weeks, months or even years to see marked results.

College To Get Bells

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Wilmington College, a Quaker school, is going to get a 36-bell carillon from the Roman Catholic exhibit by the Vatican at the Brussels World Fair. The college announced Thursday that Mrs. Bessie Goodman, former Wilmington resident, is giving the bells to the school. A 50-foot tower will be built to house them.
